STATEHOOD ASSURED FOR ALASKA

CHERRY-PICKING TIME. Monday's good weather was fine for field work on the county's farms, gardening in the city and harvesting the crop of cherries, as demonstrated here by Jill Howser, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Howser of 919 Leetonia Rd. The mercury reached a high of 88 Monday, dropped to an overnight low of 62 and stood at 84 at noon today. The day's expected high is about 90. "Fair and warm" tonight and Wednesday is the forecast, with the mercury expected to climb to almost 95 tomorrow.

Bill Approved To Admit First State Since '12

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska stood on the edge of statehood today — its 42-year fight near an end.

The Senate, in an overwhelming 64-20 vote accompanied by gallery applause, completed congressional action Monday night on a bill to admit Alaska as the nation's 49th state.

Only presidential approval, expected Wednesday or Thursday, and formal acceptance by Alaskans are now required.

Sponsors predicted completion of these preliminaries late this fall, in time for the new state's two senators and one representative to be on hand for the opening of a new Congress next January.

The action portended the first change in boundaries of the United States since 1912 when statehood was extended to Arizona and New Mexico.

Voting Representation

For Alaskans, statehood will mean that for the first time since the territory's acquisition in 1867 its residents will have voting representation in the House and Senate, can elect their own governor and state officials, and can vote for the President and vice president.

Statehood also would give Alaska the right to select 103,350,000 acres of its area, including mineral lands, as a potential tax base for development purposes. This still would leave more than two thirds of the new state in federal ownership.

Closer To Russia

For the United States, it will extend the limits of the Union within 55 miles of the Soviet mainland. Only three miles separate Soviet-held Big Diomede Island in the Bering Strait from Little Diomede Island, which would be a part of the new state.

It will also, advocates say, provide the northern area with the stability and impetus needed to spur development of its economy and attract increased population.

Completion of Senate action, after six days of debate, signaled the start of big celebrations in Alaska's larger cities, and an unofficial holiday was in store for many of its residents today.

In passing the bill unchanged from that approved by the House May 28, Senate statehood advocates beat back six efforts to sidetrack or amend the bill.

Point of Order Rejected

In the final day's drive for passage, the Senate turned down 62-22 a point of order raised by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) that a provision of Alaska's constitution calling for election of a "short term" senator violated a constitutional requirement that senators be elected for six years.

It also rejected 55-31 a move by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) to send the bill to the Senate Armed Services Committee for study of its defense implications; defeated 67-16 a move by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) to eliminate the northern and western sections of Alaska from the new state, and rejected by voice vote a second Thurmond proposal to require congressional concurrence before the President could make defense witndrawals permitted under the bill.

On the final vote, 31 Democrats and 33 Republicans lined up to support Alaska's bid for admission. Thirteen Democrats and seven Republicans opposed the bill.

Still ahead are votes by Alaskans on accepting immediate statehood, approving state boundaries as set out in the bill and on provisions permitting the President to make national defense withdrawals in the northwest section of the state. Defeat of any one of these propositions would reject statehood.

Government's Planes Blast Positions Near International Airport

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Government jet fighters took to the air at dawn today to renew their attack on rebels clinging to hill positions overlooking Beirut's International Airport.

The air attack coincided with new ground thrusts by security forces loyal to President Camille Chamoun's government, and pro-government irregulars.

It was the second consecutive day of fighting in the area 10 miles southeast of Beirut. Irregular reinforcements moved up to the hills in overloaded taxicabs and trucks, singing political songs and waving their weapons.

Goal of Campaign In Fall Rises by 5.4 Per Cent

A United Appeals budget of $204,000 to support the work of 13 agencies for the 1958-59 year was adopted by the UA board of trustees Monday night at a meeting at campaign headquarters on S. Main St.

The figure represents an increase of $10,575 or 5.4 per cent over last year's budget of $194,525. Main factor in boosting the total was the Community Foundation budget increase of $8,076. This resulted largely from the addition of a new agency, the Mental Health Clinic, and inclusion of the Marion Union Rescue Mission as a full member, bringing agency membership to an all-time high.

Louis Conkle, United Appeals president, reported the budget for the American Cancer Society remained the same while the budget of the Red Cross decreased $47.

City To Quiz Income Tax Consultants

Committee Making Survey Will Discuss Problems With Them

A decision to call in consultants to discuss the establishment of a city income tax in Marion was reached by members of the finance committee and other members of City Council in a brief discussion Monday night in City Hall.

Harold Smith (D-at large), chairman of the finance committee, which was assigned recently to make a study of the city income tax proposal, asked the other council members if they would favor meeting with two consultants on the proposal.

He said he had been contacted by J. Emerson Davis and Co. of Youngstown, who offered to discuss the problem without obligation to the city, and by Louis J. Reimer of Toledo, a financial consultant.

On agreement of the other council members attending, Mr. Smith asked Mayor Wendell L. Strong to get in touch with the two consultants and establish a date and time for a meeting with them. Mr. Smith suggested that all members of council attend the meeting.

Mr. Smith also announced that a meeting is slated for tonight at General Hospital with the hospital board of governors and the county commissioners to discuss placing a proposed bond issue for construction of a fifth floor on the fall ballot. Also to be discussed at the meeting is a proposal by the board of governors that the hospital be permitted to use anything over $200,000 in the hospital operating balance for purchase of capital improvements.

Ralph Williams (R-4th) said he would favor permitting the hospital to reduce the balance to $250,000 and to purchase and install a third elevator out of the existing $60,000 over this amount.

New Contract Made by Ohio Edison, Union

The Ohio Edison Co. and the joint council of locals affiliated with the Utility Workers of America (UWA) reached a settlement in contract negotiations Monday night in Akron, Harold J. Grigsby, company division manager here, reported today.

According to a company report received by Mr. Grigsby this morning, the settlement consisted of a 5.1 per cent wage increase effective today plus three weeks' vacation after 10 years, additional shift differential pay and improved group life insurance, hospitalization and surgical benefits.

The new agreement, which will

News Brings Joy to Territory

Celebrations in Alaska Wildest Since Gold Rush

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Alaskans caught their breath today after tossing the wildest celebration since gold rush days, and looked ahead to a problem-packed future as the nation's biggest state.

They poured it on Monday night, with whistles, sirens, horns, bells and fireworks as they cheered news of the Senate's passage of the statehood bill. Street dances followed parades. In Sitka, one-time capital of Russian Alaska, drinks were on the house.

Big Task Ahead

There seemed to be no possibility that either President Eisenhower or Alaskans would reject statehood now that Congress has approved it. But before Alaska's star is added to the flag, a monumental task faces the territory in preparing for actual admission to the Union.

Celebrants who have fought and dreamed of statehood for the vast territory set aside thoughts of the difficult period ahead and toasted victory.

'Bigger Than Texas'

At Fairbanks, the Chena River turned gold. Wildly happy residents poured dye into the stream near where one of Alaska's big gold strikes lured pioneers and sourdoughs at the turn of the century.

At Skagway, the gateway to the big klondike gold strike of 1898, housewives paraded in the streets wearing embroidered badges that proclaimed:

"Bigger than Texas, better than California. Alaska — God's country."

In every city of the territory, and in its scattered villages and towns, the celebration went on.

Not everywhere, however, was the merry making as loud or spontaneous as it was at Anchorage and Fairbanks, centers for years of the statehood movement.

At Juneau, the capital and seat of conservative opposition to statehood, hundreds celebrated and cheered as a replica of the Liberty Bell was struck 49 times and as scores danced in the street under bursting fireworks and aerial displays. But a few residents grumbled and some protested that hardships and higher taxes were in store.

Algeria Tour Is Scheduled By De Gaulle

French Premier Faces Showdown on Policy In N. African Matters

ALGIERS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle returned to Algeria today for his second visit in less than a month, facing the possibility of a showdown with French settlers who are angered because he has not pushed the policies they want.

A meeting with the leading critics of his government was postponed, however, as De Gaulle saved Algiers for the last stop on his tour. He landed at Telergma, 30 miles west of Constantine in eastern Algeria.

He is to fly to Oran, in west Algeria, and then visit the French Foreign Legion headquarters before coming on to Algiers.

Grenade Wounds 12

At almost the same time his airliner was landing at Telergma, a nationalist terrorist threw a grenade in downtown Algiers. A dozen persons were wounded.

Once more in his wartime uniform, De Gaulle was met at the airport by a host of military officers. At their head was Gen. Raoul Salan, the military commander in chief in Algeria who also has been running the government since the colonists' May 13 ouster of the Paris-appointed civilian regime.

De Gaulle came last, on June 4, as a conquering hero cheered wildly by the settlers and soldiers whose defiance of the Paris government had recalled him to power.

Then disenchantment set in.

The military-civilian Public Safety Committees formed after the May 13 insurrection complained De Gaulle had failed to wipe out the influence of the center and left-wing parties who have ruled postwar France.

Strategy Not Disclosed

Although the general proclaimed that "Algeria is French," he showed no sign of being caught up in the settlers' movement to integrate Algeria as a province of metropolitan France. That would submerge the nine million Algerian Moslems among the 43 million Frenchmen on both sides of the Mediterranean.

De Gaulle, who claims he had no part in the conspiracy that resulted in the May 13 rebellion, has acted as though he owes Algeria's right-wing settlers no political debts. None of them has been rewarded with a key post in his Cabinet. He has told the Public Safety committees they have no governmental role in Algeria.

As the date of the Premier's second trip approached, the committees suppressed their grumbling. But the war veteran groups who took major roles in the May

Kidnaping Victims Number 45, Plus 3 Canadians

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A rebel raiding party kidnaped four more Americans in eastern Cuba today. Two U.S. diplomats sought the release of 41 other Americans and 3 Canadians seized since Thursday.

The four were abducted by rebels from a United Fruit Co. sugar planatation at Guaro, near Preston, on the northeast coast of Oriente province. Company officials said the rebels entered sleeping quarters of the combination sugar mill and agricultural experiment station about midnight.

Selected at Random

The four men apparently were selected at random from a number of Americans on the plantation.

They were Alfred F. Smith of Laconia, N. H., the agricultural superintendent; James P. Stephens Jr., of Edmond, Okla., assistant agriculture superintendent; Harley F. Sparks, of Frankfurt, Ind., a district superintendent, and Jesse J. Ford, of Lakeview, S. C., also a district superintendent.

No violence was reported during the raid by a party of undetermined size. Guaro is about 40 miles west of Moa, where 12 engineers were seized Thursday night in the first kidnaping.

No Word on Negotiations

There was no word on the diplomats' progress in dealing with Fidel Castro's forces.

The rebel high command reportedly was considering whether to give up the servicemen and civilians seized in a series of raids in eastern Cuba beginning last Thursday night.

The decision was awaited by two U.S. consuls trying to deal

U.S. Finishes Its Portion of Seaway Plans

Giant Blast To Create 35-Mile Lake as Link In Inland Waterway

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—A thunderous blast today loosed 200 billion gallons of water and climaxed construction of the massive St. Lawrence Seaway and power projects.

While thousands of dignitaries, tourists and residents watched from either side of the river, 30 tons of dynamite were detonated to shatter the walls of a cofferdam and create a huge lake as part of the billion-dollar development.

Officials on Hand

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, and Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario province were among those on hand.

The seaway and power development soon will provide ocean ships an inland route as far into America's middle as Duluth, Minn.; and provide industry-building power to Ontario, New York and Vermont.

A 500-foot-long wall of dirt and debris was hurled about 500 feet into the air by the blast.

U. S. Section Completed

Water behind the cofferdam was 40 feet deep but it trickled, rather than rushed, through the break in the cofferdam. It will take three days to complete the flooding.

The destruction of the cofferdam, which held back the river while workmen scraped its bottom, marks the end of the U.S. section of the Canadian-American

City Seeks To Persuade Heights Area To Annex

A meeting of the municipal services committee of City Council with representatives of Vernon Heights residents for and against annexation to the city is slated for next Monday night in City Hall.

This was the outcome of a meeting of the committee held Monday night to discuss rates charged for city services provided outside the corporation limits.

Purpose of the meeting next Monday night will be to attempt to determine why some of the Vernon Heights residents oppose annexation and explain to them advantages of annexation.

At least until the meeting is held, the committee members agreed to hold in check tentative plans to increase city service rates for the suburban areas outside the city limits.

Prior to this decision, the committee members tentatively decided the only service rates they could increase would be for refuse and garbage collection, fire protection and sewer service rates outside Sewer District 1.

After some discussion, it was further decided that because of existing contracts with Marion Township, no changes could be made in the fire protection rates and any proposals for changing sewer service charges should be discussed with City Solicitor Riley Hall.

The meeting with the Vernon Heights representatives in annexation was suggested by Council President Fred Baldauf. He said he felt that if the situation were properly explained to the oppo-

Refutes Charges

Hoover Defends FBI's Record Against Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said today American law enforcement has a magnificent record of accomplishment which refutes charges that it functions as a Gestapo.

In a signed editorial in the July issue of FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover expressed resentment that "an unscrupulous few, through studied insults and calculated distortions, would besmirch and disgrace this world-renowned record of democratic achievement.

Hoover mentioned no names. However, his editorial followed a recent TV interview in which Cleveland industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton said that Adolf Hitler at the height of his power "never had such spy organizations as we have in this country today."

Eaton described the FBI as one of a number of agencies engaged in "snooping, in informing, in creeping up on people." After the broadcast, Hoover said Eaton's statements about the FBI were "vicious and completely untrue."

The FBI director wrote in the bulletin that law enforcement has constantly improved in efficiency, "yet, all the time, it has remained undeviatingly loyal to the principles of freedom and justice."

"Recently," he said, "loud and slanderous charges have come from some quarters that law enforcement is gravely impairing the historic liberties of the people. Violent and hateful words,

Corrections Chief Urges Greater Community Effort

Koblentz Seeks More Stress on Crime Prevention

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The time has come for communities to intensify their efforts to prevent crime, in the opinion of M. C. Koblentz, chief of the state Division of Correction.

Koblentz's division runs state penal institutions which today have a total population of more than 11,500 persons. That compares with 6,600 just after World War II.

Koblentz today pointed to a sharp rise in the number of persons sent to prison in Ohio in recent months to bolster his belief more attention to crime prevention is needed.

"During the first five months this year, courts sent 1,919 persons to prison, compared to 1,599 for the same months last year," he said. "That is a 20 per cent increase.

"During the past few years crime has increased from 8 to 10 per cent a year, and there are indications the recession turned some people into criminals," he added.

LAST YEAR Ohio courts sent 394 more people to prison than they did during 1956. During the first five months of this year they already have sent 320 more people to prison than they did during the same months in 1956. The increase for five months is nearly as large as the previous increase for one year.

"On that basis," Koblentz said, "courts will send us about 4,000 prisoners this year, compared to 3,639 last year. Many of the prisoners are young adults who will go to the reformatory at Mansfield, which is crowded."

Last month the courts sent about 200 prisoners to Mansfield, about one-half of all prisoners they committed. This pushed the reformatory's population past the 3,200 mark.

Ohio won't have any additional prison space until late in 1959 when part of the new reformatory near Lebanon is finished. When the entire institution is finished, one-half of the inmates at Mansfield can be sent there.

"There is much interest in crime prevention by various agencies, both public and private," Koblentz said. "I think that a much better job could be done if all the agencies coordinated their efforts."

EACH AGENCY has its own field of study on why crime exists. By working together, Koblentz believes, each can profit.

"There are many reasons for crime," he said. "Because of that, crime prevention must be carried out on a united front. It's a 20-billion-dollar-a-year problem nationally, a one-billion-dollar problem in Ohio."

Maybe there is a need for a state crime prevention agency or a state crime prevention clinic, Koblentz says. An agency first would gather statistics on crime to find where it is most prevalent.

It would be a clearing house for crime prevention programs and could provide consultation for communities.

"We need action to get at the grass roots causes of crime," says Koblentz. "That best can come through a coordinated effort; if need be, fighting crime block by block where it grows and spreads like a tropical plant.

Koblentz, looking ahead, can see the day when large cities will have fulltime crime prevention coordinators.

Richwood Bible School Closes With Exercises

RICHWOOD — Two weeks of Bible School were ended Sunday night at the First Baptist Church in Richwood when the children of the various departments presented their closing exercises. Ninety-four pupils were enrolled in the school. Sixty-six pupils were present at least seven out of the 10 days and were eligible for certificates. The average attendance for the 10 day period was 70.5.

Mrs. Claud Swartz was general superintendent of the school and presented certificates of appreciation to the workers in the various departments. Mrs. William Holcomb was superintendent of the kindergarten class assisted by Mrs. Beatrice Dutton, Miss Marilyn Newhouse and Miss Kathryn Prichard. Mrs. Harold Simmons was in charge of the primary department, assisted by Mrs. Robert Fox, Mrs. Howard Preston, and Miss Betty Prichard.

The superintendent of the junior group was Mrs. Rueben Kyrk. Her assistants were Mrs. Guy Newhouse, Mrs. Ada McDaniel, Mrs. William Hayden, Miss Carol Cochran, Miss Christine Fetter and Miss Ann Perkins. The Rev. Rueben Kyrk directed the work of the junior high class, assisted by the Rev. William Hayden and Mrs. Giles McDaniel. Mrs. Richard Ross and Miss Kay Newhouse directed the activities of the children in the nursery whose mothers were workers in the school.

Extended Benefits Due To Commence July 24

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Payment of extended unemployment compensation benefits will start July 24 or 25, Bureau of Unemployment Compensation officials say.

Those who have exhausted benefit rights under the old law can apply on or after July 14.

The new law—approved by the special session of the Legislature last week and signed by Gov. C. William O'Neill—extends benefits for 13 weeks to those who have or will have exhausted 26 weeks of benefits between June 30, 1957, and April 4, 1959.

Money for the extension will come from a 505-million-dollar reserve in bureau funds. It is expected to cost about 40 million dollars.

Governor To Crown Queen

Carey To Celebrate Its Centennial Next Week

CAREY — The Carey Centennial committee has nearly completed all arrangements for the week-long celebration which will start here next week.

Brotherhood Sunday will mark the official opening of the 100th birthday party of the town and the surrounding area, but the real festivities are not due to get under way until Monday.

The event being celebrated this month is the incorporation of the vilage. The centennial of its founding occurred in 1943 during World War II and village leaders at that time deemed it more appropriate to wait until after hostilities had ceased before staging such a festival as this.

PLENTY OF activities are on tap for the celebration next week. Monday's homecoming day activities will consist of a pioneer and homecoming picnic at which awards will be presented to the man and woman of longest continuous residence in the area, to former residents coming from the farthest distance and to former residents bringing the largest families.

There also will be an old-time fiddlers contest, a horse shoe pitching contest, fly casting competition, reunions and songs by barber shop quartets.

Highlight of the day will come at 8 o'clock that night when Gov. C. William O'Neill crowns the centennial queen. She will be chosen from a group of contestants who are obtaining votes by selling tickets to the Centennial Historical Pageant which will have its first performance Tuesday night. The ball will be held at the Waterworks Park pavillion.

Tuesday will be labor-industry-commerce day with tours of industrial plants scheduled. The first performance of the historical pageant will be given at 8:30 p.m. every night through Saturday.

Agricultural day will be observed Wednesday with 4-H clubs, FFA and FHA chapters giving displays and holding contests in the afternoon. An agricultural parade will move through town at 6 p.m.

THURSDAY IS ladies day with a full day of activities slated. Starting in the morning cooking school will be held. Miss Ohio from Mansfield will be present and a style show will be conducted to give the women of the area a chance to show off their old costumes. Various prizes will be awarded in several categories.

In the afternoon the Daughters of the American Revolution will give a presentation. There will be music by a philharmonic chorus and demonstrations of Swedish weaving, textile painting and aluminum tray making. In addition the Grandmothers Club of Fostoria is slated to give a concert to close out the afternoon. All the day's activities are to be held at Memorial Park.

Friday is youth day. A drum majorettes contest will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Memorial Park. It will be directed by Mrs. Edith Hewett of Findlay.

Saturday has been set aside as veterans day. A dog show will be held at 10 a.m. At 2 p.m. the centennial parade will be held with a large number of units scheduled to take part in the show. The Brothers of the Brush will hold their beard judging contest at 6 p.m. and at 8:30 the final performance of the historical pageant will bring the celebration to a close.

The village of Carey was laid out by R. M. Shuler and W. M. Buell in the territory which once had been the hunting grounds of the Wyandot Indians. The town was named for Judge John Carey, president of the Indiana, Bloomington and Western Railroad which ran through the town. The town was organized two years before Wyandot County and the entire area was mostly uninhabited wilderness. A hotel was built in 1843, the first business place in the village. This was soon followed by a general store building and by 1845 there were several stores operating in town.

THE FIRST SCHOOL was erected in 1843 and in 1849 the first church in the area was established, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church of Crawfordsville.

At first the swampy land around the village was considered worthless and brought only $20 an acre at best. Then one of the inhabitants discovered that onions and celery grew well in it and its value soon rose to $125 an acre.

The village now has a population of 3,800 and is second in size in the county only to Upper Sandusky.

Heading the civic group promoting the centennial activities are chairman; Mrs. Richard Kurtz, treasurer; Thomas Courtad, headquarters chairman, and Miss Wanda Mullholand, secretary.

Grand Jury To Convene Here, 10 Cases Booked

A regular session of the Marion County grand jury will convene here Monday, July 21, Common Pleas Court officials reported today. The jury is scheduled to make its report on July 25 and arraignments have been set for July 28.

According to the court docket, at least 10 cases will be considered by the jury. Charges include armed robbery, fraud, rape, escaping from the Marion Correctional Institution, and aiding and abetting an escape, harboring a felon and conveying contraband into the institution.

The McCord Zulo Hospital in Durban, South Africa, was founded in 1898 by an American medical missionary. It handled more than 100,000 cases last year.

Ford Contract Talks Delayed For Two Weeks

DETROIT, Mich (AP) — Auto union contract negotiations now appear positive of going beyond the mid-July mark at least.

Ford and the United Auto Workers have agreed to break off their negotiations until July 14 for an extended Fourth of July interim period.

A similar program possibly may be arranged also by Chrysler and General Motors.

The UAW and Ford agreed Monday to the extended adjournment in deference to out-of-town union negotiators. The latter have been at the bargaining table and away from home with little interruption since late March.

This is the fifth week of the auto industry's no-contract period. The UAW and Big Three have been without agreements since expiration of old pacts on the Memorial Day weekend.

Chrysler and UAW Local 212 disputed Monday the cause of a work stoppage idling 2,700 men at Chrysler's Plymouth car body and assembly plants.

The company sent the men home for a second straight day, charging trim department workers refused to do assigned work. Last Friday this also happened.

Tony Czerwinski, union vice president, charged the company with inhuman production demands following layoffs. In reply Chrysler said it asked workers only for a reasonable amount of effort.

Removal of Dead Trees Urged Here

Property owners in Marion may remove dead trees from between the sidewalk and curb in front of their residences, Safety - Service Director Howard Travis said this morning.

He explained that he has had a number of calls from persons wanting to know if they may cut down the dead trees or if it is necessary for the city to order them cut down.

Mr. Travis said that all that a property owner desiring to remove a dead tree must do is call the safety-service director office and advise when the tree is to be removed.

He also said that whenever possible, city crews will pick up the pieces of the tree and haul it away free of charge.

The same subject also was discussed at a meeting of the municipal services committee of council Monday night and various council members said they felt that residents of the city should be informed of their right to remove dead trees. It was reported that there are a number of dead elm trees which are a potential hazard to persons driving or walking underneata them.

Inheritance Taxes Here Total $76,996

Inheritance tax collections in Marion County accounted for $76,996 of the $8,947,646 collected in the state during the first six months of 1958, the state auditor's office reported today.

If collections during the second half of the year continue at the same pace, inheritance taxes will break all previous records, the auditor said.

Half of the state's total collections went to taxing districts where the decedents had resided. The other half went to the state after deduction of fees for the offices of county auditor, county treasurer and probate judge. The state received $4.277.747 and fees amounted to $196,075, the auditor's report said.

Inheritance tax collections in surrounding counties were as follows:

Crawford, $62,519; Delaware, $17,258; Hardin, $15,660; Morrow $5,116; Union, $9,214, and Wyandot, $22,176.

Fire Reports

FALSE ALARMS

(Monday)

11:20 p.m. to the rear of 411 Madison Ave., Ohio Sprinkler Co., where workmen were burning oil off shavings and neighbors reported a fire. Central station firemen answered the alarm and reported no loss.

INVESTIGATIONS

8:03 p.m. to the intersection of Indiana and Pennsylvania Avenues where a street flair at an open trench upset. Firemen of the Central station reported to the scene and righted the flair and eliminated any fire hazard.

INHALATOR CALLS

11:30 p.m. to 602 Decatur St. where Mrs. Earl McWherter, 41, suffered an asthma attack. The inhalator was operated 10 minutes.

(Tuesday)

7:05 a.m. to 695 N. State St. where Mrs. Sara Walker, 84, was taken ill. The inhalator was used 45 minutes and she was taken to Marion General Hospital in a Boyd ambulance. Her condition was listed as "fair" at the hospital this morning.

Periodic Checkup Urged To Combat Danger of Cancer

Although cancer research and education reached record levels in 1957, failure to have regular medical checkups cost some 75,000 Americans their lives from cancer, Dr. Robert C. Campbell, president of the Marion County Cancer Society, reported today.

He said these figures were disclosed in the annual report of the American Cancer Society released to local units today.

The physician reported that although more lives have been saved in the last decade due to cancer control, existing methods of diagnosis and treatment are competent of saving at least half of the 450,000 Americans who develop the disease each year. The ratio of lives now saved from cancer is 1-3.

In stressing the importance of cancer diagnosis and treatment, Dr. Campbell said it is the key to realizing our life-saving potential. Prompt and adequate treatment for cancer has saved 800,000 Americans who are alive and well today, he said.

"The ultimate victory will be the fruit of cancer research," Dr. Campbell said. He noted that scientists come closer each day to the discovery of new ways of curing the disease and even methods of preventing it.

The national society reported public contributions of $29,650,000 to the 1957 crusade, the greatest amount ever contributed in a single year to a volunteer cancer-fighting agency.

SON HAS ROLE

NEW YORK (AP)—After thespic tuneup in films and television, Helen Hayes' 20 - year - old son, James MacArthur, is heading for Broadway. He is to make his stage debut in a leading role in the upcoming comedy - drama, "Far Away the Train-Birds Fly," by Edward H. Davis and Lionel Kranitz.

Skipper Tries To Sail Yacht Into Test Zone

HONOLULU (AP)—The yacht Phoenix approached the off-limits U. S. H-bomb test area in the Pacific today under Navy surveillance after its skipper declared his intention to enter the danger zone.

"I regard any interference on the high seas as an act of piracy. They will have to sink me to take me," said Earle L. Reynolds, a former professor of anthropology at Antioch College, Ohio.

"We're not going to let anyone commit suicide on the high seas," a Navy spokesman reponded, but declined to say what action would be taken.

The Phoenix, carrying skipper-owner Reynolds, 48; his wife; son and daughter; and a Japanese crewman, Niichi Mikami, left Honolulu June 11 with Hiroshima its announced destination. All five are outspoken opponents of nuclear tests.

The 50-foot yacht was less than 100 miles from the prohibited Eniwetok test area Monday when the Coast Guard cutter Planetree hailed it and asked Reynolds' sailing intentions.

The Navy quoted the skipper as saying he intended to enter the off-limits zone and realized he was endangering his crew and yacht.

Rail Strike Ends

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Railway workers faced a large job of moving backlogged freight today after agreeing to end a five-day strike that paralyzed Mexico's government-run railroads.

The agreement to resume work immediately came Monday night when President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines said he would study demands for pay increases of 250 pesos ($20) a month.

147 Children Take Salvation Army's Training in Bible

The Salvation Army Bible School opened today with an enrollment of 147. The Bible school session, which runs through July 15, will be followed by a summer playground program at the Army's Citadel on W. Church St.

Workmen began blacktopping the playground area to the rear of the citadel today in preparation for the summer program.

When this work is completed, playground equipment will be installed. It is planned to have some equipment available to be used by those attending Bible School, an Army spokesman said today.

Work on the playground area had previously been postponed because of rain.

Launching the Salvation Army's summer children's program was a wiener roast held last night for 150 parents and children.

Space Contracts Let

PASADENA, Calif (AP) — Contracts have been let for a multi-million-dollar radio antenna able to contact space vehicles, to be built on California's Mojave Desert.

Construction of the 85-foot, bowl-shaped antenna will be the first step in building ground equipment for a lunar probe program.

Principal contractors will be the Blaw-Knox Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Collins Radio Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and the Rucker Co., Oakland, Calif.

COLLEGE RECEIVES GRANT

CINCINNATI (AP) — A grant of $20,000 to the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion by S. H. Scheuer, of New York, will be used to provide scholarships for foreign students.

Prexy Grid Aide, Golf Coach Takes Position at Elyria

Robert F. (Bob) Messaros, football line coach at Harding High School the last three years, has resigned to accept a teaching and coaching job in Elyria, his home town, according to Gordon Larson, head grid mentor at the Prexy school.

Messaros, who taught history and coached the Harding golf team in addition to his grid duties, is expected to be in charge of tackles and ends on the Elyria squad.

An accomplished footballer in his own right, Messaros made the All Mid-American Conference team two years in a row while attending Miami University at Oxford, O. A guard on the Redskin eleven, he stayed on after graduation to coach both wrestling and boxing before coming to Marion to work under Larson.

Hospital Board Took the Right Step

Almost half of the Marion County voting public was convinced last fall of the need for additional space at Marion General Hospital —convinced enough to vote for an additional tax.

The need still exists and the hospital board of governors has asked for another vote on a hospital bond issue. Its task this year will be to convince more voters that it should be supported.

In order to make the tax burden lighter, and to capture more "yes" votes, the board has scaled down its request.

Instead of a $750,000 bond issue, which would have provided for a fifth floor and in addition a teaching center, expanded parking lot and storage building, the board this year is shooting for a $400,000 or $450,000 bond issue for a fifth floor alone.

The larger bond issue, needing 55 per cent of the votes cast, received 49 per cent last November. If only three voters in every hundred change from "no" to "yes" this fall, the new attempt to build a fifth floor will succeed.

The project deserves the support of these voters and many more. The requirement for additional space was ably presented in last year's campaign, and presumably will be argued as effectively this year

Realizing a clearcut and vital community need, this newspaper supported the hospital bond issue last fall and will do so again.

We believe the hospital board of governors did exactly the right thing in deciding to place the bond issue on the ballot again.

There will be critics who will claim that the timing is faulty.

In our opinion, the best way to settle that question is to take it directly to the ultimate judges—the voters.

Competition Getting Too Hot for Us?

If you've never had this nightmare, be patient. Your turn is coming.

It will happen to you some night after you have been impressed anew with the energy and ingenuity that many of this country's foreign competitors show in making things that can match U.S. products in value and beat them in price.

It will happen after you have understood clearly why the United States must compete with its competitors on their own terms or admit it has been licked in the contest for international status, which guarantees that the loser's penalty will be a gradual loss of independence.

In the nightmare, you will see Uncle Sam badgered and beleaguered by his competitors, while the products of his handiwork pile up unsold because they are overpriced. You will see the old man's lips shaping these words: "I cannot afford to stay in the game any longer. The competition is too tough."

If if ever happens, the competition will be too tough because the United States, having mastered the knack of mass production in the first quarter of the 20th century and the knack of mass consumption in the second quarter of the 20th century, failed to master the knack of international competition in the third quarter.

It will happen because the United States failed to take into account the resourcefulness and boundless energy of the Japanese and the Germans, the passion for outdoing Americans that motivates the Russians and the truth of the axiom that the only way to stay where you are in a competitive world is to forge steadily ahead.

It will happen because the American people cleaned up so handsomely on their success in the machine age that they began to take the good things of life for granted, forgetting what it had cost to get them in the first place and what it would cost to keep them against the competition of myriads of people just as ambitious and frequently far more inventive than they were.

If competition is the spice of life, as Americans like to believe it is, life was never spicier. Everything that has been cherished and pointed to with pride in this country is being challenged—from manufactured gimmicks to education.

There is only one reaction from this that does not constitute a nightmare—the reaction that says to all competitors, "All right, do the best you can do and we'll do better."

Any other reaction signifies surrender.

U.S. Exhibit Not Perfect

The businessman who turned the heat on the senator who turned the heat on President Eisenhower to tear up the United States exhibit at the Brussels World's Fair and start over, has his answer.

George V. Allen, director of the United States Information Agency, has returned from a hurry-up inspection of the U.S. exhibit to tell the President what visitors to the fair think of it.

Mr. Allen admits the exhibit isn't perfect and proposes some additions, such as works of art that are not in the abstract school, to dispel the impression that all painting in this country is being done by artists who see things differently than other human beings see them.

But his clincher is the observation that the exhibit was designed to appeal to the Fair visitors — 95 per cent of them Europeans. It was not designed to satisfy businessmen from the United States who turn the heat on senators to turn the heat on the White House to make everything conform to their standards of taste. Europeans, Mr. Allen points out, like the U.S. exhibit. They like the idea of not being hit over the head with heavy-handed propaganda. They like the idea of a country that admits it has "unfinished business" to get out of the way before it can sleep with a good conscience but is having fun in the meantime.

The Brussels World's Fair will continue to have an exhibit representing the United States.

Fourth of July Committee Needs Help

In its current attempt to provide this city with a proper community Independence Day celebration for the third consecutive year, the Marion Fourth of July Celebration Committee, Inc., finds itself in trouble financially.

We can't quite escape the feeling that better planning and an earlier concentrated effort might have averted part of the crisis. After all, the holiday is almost upon us.

Nevertheless, there is absolutely no doubt that the project is worthy and it takes money to handle it. The committee has been budgeting the celebration on the basis of $1,800 and at last report had obtained about half of it.

A community Fourth of July celebration has several factors to recommend it. It keeps a great many people off crowded highways and therefore saves lives. In a variety of ways it helps to impress upon our citizens the true meaning of Independence Day. It preserves some of the flavor and the excitement of the day that otherwise would be lost completely through the ban on fireworks, which highlighted the observance for children in bygone years.

The celebration has been a welcome addition to the Marion community calendar the last two years and it would be a shame to see it sharply curtailed or canceled due to lack of funds.

It depends entirely on contributions—from businesses, industries, organizations and individuals.

Its continuance would seem to rest directly with the citizens of Marion.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"It's been the age of the great goof-off and the day of the half-done job. The land is full of waiters who won't serve, carpenters who will come around some day maybe, executives with minds on the golf course and salesmen who won't sell.

We have had the two-hour lunch, the three-day weekend and the all-day coffee break."—C. H. Brower.

Not to overlook the house-painter who dilutes the paint, the dock worker who ties up docks, the auto inspector who doesn't inspect, the efficiency expert who wears spiked shoes to a dancing contest and the "odd-jobs" man who thinks it is odd if asked to do a job.

THEN THERE'S the public servant who can't be bothered with the public, the shoestore clerk who dislikes people with feet, the executive who has a racing sheet concealed inside his "important papers" and the lifeguard who won't pull anybody out of the water without a conference with mediators on a compromise agreement.

And chuck in these. The chairman of the board who cuts the board meeting short to get to his rhumba lesson, the ghost writer who hires ghost writers, the factory hand who washes up ahead of time with the company soap, the businessman who neglects his business to serve on a committee to report on what's wrong with business, the department-store clerks who won't cut a dialogue on bingo to give attention to a customer and the financier who specializes in "special situations," proxy hunts and lamb shearing.

Then there's the bus driver who scares customers from using buses, the thrift lecturer who raises his fee so he can spend more time in the best resort hotels, the industrialist who is most industrious developing a personality smile taking advantage of photography and getting good tables at night clubs.

Yes, for a time America has been the home of the artful dodger, the land of the hammock and the paradise of the overstuffed chair addict. But "Do not disturb" is passing out as a slogan. "For it's always fair weather when good fellows get together," is not a vanishing song hit during office hours. "Let's have lunch ALL afternoon," isn't being heard very often. Things look much better.

(Heckler: What about the column writers who do work between fishing trips, run "Reprinted by request" stuff and regard the train to the race track as the deadline? Bub, we were afraid of that.)

SMOKE SEEN COMING from many legislators' chimneys today can bring suggestions, "He must be burning overcoats and hotel bill memoranda."

Evidence or Suspicion

By David Lawrence

Would a stranger receive the same treatment at the White House as a friend? Would a friend who gave gifts get better treatment than a friend who didn't?

Lawrence

These questions are considered pertinent by many readers who have written in about the Sherman Adams case. So this correspondent made inquiry a few days ago and obtained the following information from an official source:

Q. — About how many letters are received at the White House in a typical month for the attention of the President or his aide, Sherman Adams, which are referred for action of some kind to governmental agencies?

A. — About 8,937 were received in March and for the first three weeks in June the total was 5,018. Most of them were referred to other governmental agencies without any memos along with them but all bore the stamped signature of Sherman Adams as authorizing the referral action.

Q. — How many of these letters required some form of notation to be attached to the incoming letter of inquiry when it was referred to a governmental agency?

A.—About 1,122 in March and 694 in the first three weeks of June were handled that way. These were requests that the agency take appropriate action and make a reply direct to the inquirer.

Q.—How many got a letter of acknowledgment from Sherman Adams stating that the matter was being referred to another agency?

A. — About 790 in March and 424 in June.

Q.—ON HOW MANY was further information sought before Sherman Adams could make reply?

A. — Replies to about 222 were held up pending receipt of further information requested from the other governmental agencies on which to base the replies. These requests for information were also signed by Sherman Adams.

Q. — How many memos were written by other members of the White House staff under their own signatures referring matters to other governmental agencies and requesting information?

A. —About 200 during the month of June. This is approximately the same number as in other months.

Q.—Out of the total number of inquiries that Gov. Adams himself acknowledged and referred to governmental agencies, how many came from individuals with whom he has had a personal acquaintance.

A. — Not more than one per cent of the 790 in March and the 424 in June. And most of these came from persons in his home area — citizens who were his constituents when he was governor of New Hampshire or when he served in Congress.

The above information is entirely apart from the inquiries made by members of Congress who write to the White House in behalf of constituents desiring some action be taken by governmental agencies. The same source estimated that for the two typical months mentioned above, there were 143 such letters in March and 156 in the first three weeks in June.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC has little idea of how extensive are the telephone calls to the White House. They average 2,000 per day and, as for members of Congress, their calls to the executive offices average about 100 per day. Sherman Adams personally takes at least 30 of these calls a day.

What are the nature of the requests from members of Congress? One member wants import duties reduced on tobacco. Another urges action by the mediation service in a strike. Another wants clemency for the son of a constituent. A senator wants the President to support certain legislation desired by his constituents.

One congressman forwarded two crates of asparagus in behalf of a constituent. Another congressman requests that money be appropriated to enlarge customs facilities in a port in his district.

As for mail from the general public it is of a wide variety. One referred to the Department of lack of medical attention. This is citizen appeals for aid for a 4-year-old child who is going to die for Health, Education and Welfare. Another citizen begs clemency for an individual convicted of murder on circumstantial evidence and due to be electrocuted. This goes to the Department of Justice.

A wife appeals for help in permitting her husband — who is about to be deported — to remain in the United States or to reenter immediately. This is referred to the Immigration Service. A citizen asks if anything can be done to ascertain whether or not a son missing in action since 1951 is really dead.

THE HUMANE appeals — a transfer of a son in military service to duty in the U. S. because of severe illness of the father — are mixed in with those which request aid of a material nature.

Citizens generally feel they have a constitutional right to appeal to the president or his aides to take action to help them in their business or personal relations with the government. Whether or not they are known personally to staff members at the White House, the requests are considered on their merits and the appropriate action is taken or information is requested from the governmental agencies concerned.

When Sherman Adams during a 15-year friendship with a New England businessman occasionally exchanged gifts — as do many persons in public life — he could not have known that the routine consideration he gave to two requests for information from his friend some day would be regarded as indiscreet.

The record shows that Mr. Adams has handled this kind of request on the same basis as the others he received from strangers. He has asked no favors and requested no action — leaving it to the independent commissions to make their own decisions.

HE HIMSELF has said it was imprudent to have accepted any gifts but what he really means is that it never occurred to him that anything he did for a friend equivalent to what he did every day for strangers would some day be regarded as improper and as a challenge to his integrity.

If a man's conscience tells a public servant he has not improperly used his position in behalf of either a friend or a stranger, he ought never to resign from office just because he comes under fire.

To do so is to yield to the "lynch" spirit which often in the past has punished many a citizen because "appearances" were against the accused.

For America's proud boast is that suspicion is not evidence and that nobody is convicted for wrongdoing except by "due process of law."

Unpredictable Witness

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Waiting for Bernard Goldfine to testify is like waiting for the launching of a satellite: The results of both are unpredictable.

This fast-talking, gift-giving millionaire friend of presidential assistant Sherman Adams is due to testify Wednesday before a House subcommittee looking into his relations with Adams and with government regulatory agencies.

Washington, long used to having spectacular individuals appear before committees, has a special air of expectancy about Boston businessman Goldfine.

HE TALKS RAPIDLY and volubly, and seems to throw around expensive gifts and favors to men in political office or positions of political power.

Time magazine last month quoted him as saying that when someone like him has problems: "Who do you go to? Why, you go to your congressman or your senator or to your governor, not to some schmo."

The Washington Post in a special story from Boston Sunday—outlining the efforts of Goldfine's lawyers to drill him for his appearance here—gave a pretty clear impression he's a hard man to handle, even by his own lawyers.

ONE OF THEM was quoted as saying: "He will make a terrible witness. He's hard of hearing and he doesn't answer questions well. He's not good with words.

"It is constitutionally impossible for him to give a simple answer. You can't tell what will happen when he gets on the stand."

Even Goldfine's actions appear unpredictable. He had a date with his lawyers at noon, the Post said, and showed up at 6 p. m. The next night he didn't show up at all.

Adams has said he let Goldfine pay hotel bills for him, amounting to more than $2,000, and before the same subcommittee said he had received vicuna cloth for a coat and the loan of an expensive Oriental rug from Goldfine.

ADAMS DESCRIBED all this as part of a personal and friendly relationship extending back for years. Goldfine, who came to this country a poor immigrant, seems from other testimony before the subcommittee to have spread a lot of money and a lot of favors in a lot of places.

For example: Gov. Lane Dwinell, a former political associate of Adams, says Goldfine gave a suit of clothes to every governor in the nation at the 1955 Governor's Conference.

And John Fox, former publisher of the now defunct Boston Post, said he borrowed $400,000 from Goldfine. Goldfine even sent a bolt of cloth to President Eisenhower whose press secretary, James Hagerty, said Eisenhower gave it away.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE subpoenaed Goldfine's companies' records, going back to 1925, and any records of money he spent on state or federal employes going back to 1950. What isn't known yet is whether—or how—the subcommittee will try to dig into Goldfine's income tax returns to see:

1. Whether the money he spent on gifts for political figures like Adams were considered by him to be just friendly gifts, as Adams says he considered them, or—

2. Whether Goldfine actually considered them business expenses and so deducted them from his income tax returns.

The Laziest Thieves

By Truman Twill

Fascinating testimony spilled into the record of the Senate Rackets Committee a few days ago.

The United Brotherhood of Carpentees and Joiners had paid $310,000 to a certain gentleman to write a book about their sainted president, the late William L. Hutcheson.

Robert A. Christie, who has been a teacher and currently is on the staff of the governor of Pennsylvania, had come before the committee with the hand-written manuscript of his thesis for a doctor's degree, which he was awarded by Cornell University in 1954. He alleged that from 5,000 to 8,000 of his words written over a period of three and a half years of laborious research, had been lifted and transplanted in another man's $310,000 book on Mr. Hutcheson.

The subject of the investigation was not whether Mr. Christie had been robbed of his ideas, however, but whether the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners had been improperly relieved of $310,000. The Senate Rackets Committee can worry about that.

There is, unfortunately, nothing much that can be done about thievery of thought. On rare occasions, plagiarism can be proved and nominal damages collected. But the real damage done by thievery of ideas is not money damage.

It's the damage done to the morale of the original thinkers. They are reminded again—and always painfully—that they live without protection in a world that waits for them to think, the way a zoo keeper waits for an elephant to have a baby elephant.

Both are rarities—original material in the realm of thought and baby elephants born in captivity. Small wonder they are pounced on, especially the ideas, because ideas are impossible to trace and defy claims of ownership, there being nothing new under the sun.

For every million dollars snatched or every million dollars' worth of material wealth stolen, a billion dollars' worth of ideas are purloined without starting a police siren.

And surely the laziest thieves in the world are those who will appropriate another person's ideas without even going to the trouble to change the words in which they are expressed.

Mr. Christie asserted before the Senate Rackets Committee that the only thing changed from the original wording of his doctor's thesis had been omission of material critical of the union.

And one more thing: Some of the $310,000 was paid to an assistant of the purported author who borrowed Mr. Christie's thesis from Cornell University.

All people who put ideas in writing and see them swiped by other people who collect both cash and credit get a little touchy about it. Why didn't Mr. Christie sue in the courts if he thought his material had been plagiarized? Simplest reason there is. He didn't have the money. All he had was enough intelligence to write about William L. Hutcheson after three and a half years of hard work in pursuit of the degree of doctor of philosophy in American history.

Port Cities Eye Potential Markets

Europe Appraises Trade Possibilities of Seaway

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—If Great Lakes ports are noisily optimistic about the prospects of St. Lawrence Seaway trade, the big ports of Europe could be described as quietly hopeful.

Patience, born of generations of experience with the vagaries of nations and world trade winds, is the keel of the attitude among European shipping and port interests.

First of a Series

And for this patience, the European appraisal of the seaway potential is perhaps the more long range and significant.

After a 3-week tour of European ports, Toledo Blade writer Alan F. Schoedel reported that generally Europeans feel nothing but good can come when the seaway is completed next year. But just how much, they believe, only time can tell.

Their patience does not mean the European interests are sitting on their sterns, so to speak, waiting to see what floats in from the seaway before getting up steam.

In West Germany, a shipowners firm is literally stretching little freighters into big ones with its sights on seaway business.

IN AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, port interests are trying to change long-established shipping patterns they believe might scuttle the city's chances in competition for seaway trade.

In several nations, organizations have been formed to promote use of the seaway and stretch trade lines directly into the heart of the American Midwest.

For an example of the European mixture of hope and caution with regard to the seaway, consider developments in England.

For many years, the Dutch-Norwegian Fjell-Oranje Lines that pioneered service from the United Kingdom to the Great Lakes in the early 1930s was all alone on the run.

In 1952, the British Manchester Lines entered the picture, building some vessels especially designed for the 14-foot deep channels of the St. Lawrence River.

MORE RECENTLY, some half dozen other British lines started sending ships into the lakes.

In the words of William McGilligray, a director of the British Furness Line, steamship lines now are moving Great Lakes trade "like flies around a jam pot."

At the same time, McGilligray notes, the Great Lakes cargo has not increased as fast as the number of ships to haul it.

With more and more ships entering the lakes to divide up available cargo, McGilligray sees only two alternatives:

Either the ports generate enough cargo to make the expanded service worthwhile for the shipping lines or some of the operators on the lakes "will go to the wall."

Another shipping executive, Norman Hughes, manager of the Cunard Lines' London office, was asked whether the various steamship lines would give the lakes ports ample time to prove their capacity to generate cargo.

"We've been in the business a long time, and we're patient," Hughes replied. He said Cunard was proceeding cautiously, but is counting on the growing industrial population of midwestern America to produce more business activity and eventually more cargo.

DONALD A. JELLY of SLA, Ltd., London, agents for Fjell-Oranje, advised lakes ports not to be misled by the steamship lines' first flurry of interest in the seaway because "everyone will want to have a go at it."

If the cargo doesn't materialize, he added, "you don't sail big ships half empty."

Overall, British shipping interests view the present as a period of trial and experiment, a time of testing whether the lakes area can produce as much cargo for its ports as the ports now hope.

In experimenting with lakes trade, the shipowners firm of Sartori & Berger in Hamburg, West Germany, is trying to have its fresh water and drink it, too.

The firm wanted to get into the lakes and decided it couldn't wait for the seaway to provide room for the bigger ships. So within the last four years it built five small vessels which appeared to have the typical "little laker" design.

But the ships had one important difference. Special reinforcement and outsized power plants made them expansible.

THE FIRST, the Catherine Sartori, already has been stretched out.

Originally 258 feet long and able to get through existing locks on the St. Lawrence River, the ship was cut in two after a year of lakes service. A 32-foot-long section of hull was welded and bolted into the gap. The lenghened ship is 290 feet long and her cargo capacity has risen from 2,240 tons to the present 2,842 tons.

TWO SHOWERS WERE held Sunday in honor of Miss Patricia Ann Shellhorn, who is to become the bride of Richard E. Wilson Thursday night.

The 7:30 p.m. open church ceremony will be in the Emanuel Lutheran Church with the Rev. M. E. Hollensen officiating.

The first affair Sunday was an 11 a.m. brunch given by Miss Mary Barkley of Washington, D.C., at the home of her mother, Mrs. Virgil Barkley of 867 Merkel Ave.

Assisting with the serving was Mrs. Richard Meister.

Guests, in addition to the guest of honor, were: Miss Marie Meister and Miss Alice Barkley, both of Washington, D.C.; Miss Lynn Schroeder, Miss Linda Pensinger, Miss Jan Taylor, Miss Judy Speck, Miss Pat Wilson, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. John Rinnert, Miss Emily Rinnert, Mrs. Ray Behm, Mrs. Evelyn Wiliams, Mrs. Gene Shellhorn and Miss Ellen Shellhorn.

Sunday evening at 8, miscellaneous shower was given by two aunts of the bride-elect, Mrs. Glenn Lehner and Mrs. Gene Lehner.

Again the color scheme was blue and white, the bride's chosen colors, with streamers from an umbrella on the ceiling showing the bride-elect the way to her gifts.

Deadline Moved Up

Due to the July 4 holiday, deadline on announcements for Saturday's church pages has been moved up to Thursday noon.

For games, guests first helped the guest of honor build a scrapbook of the "firsts" in her life.

Other guests at this event were Mrs. Milton Hord, Mrs. Emma Lehner, great - grandmother of the bride-to-be; Mrs. Minnie Seitter, Mrs. Charles Gohlson, Mrs. Ray Behm, Mrs. Richard Moore, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Miss Pat Wilson, Miss Ellen Shellhorn and Mrs. Robert Lehner.

Another miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Shellhorn by her maid of honor, Miss Emily Rinnert, at her home at 641 E. Center St. on June 16.

MR. AND MRS. H. E. Shifley of near Bucyrus announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Janet, to Charles Oehler, son of Mrs. Charles Oehler of near LaRue and the late Mr. Oehler.

The couple will be wed in an open-church ceremony July 6 at 3:30 p.m. in the United Church of Christ at Whetstone. The service will be preceded by a half-hour interlude of nuptial music.

The bride-elect is a 1955 graduate of Whetstone School. She is employed by the Power Equipment Co. in Galion.

Mr. Oehler, who was graduated from LaRue High School in 1954, will enter the service in August.

Miss Judy Campbell of Morral, a July bride-elect, was honored at a miscellaneous shower given Friday evening by Mrs. R. G. Donley of Campbell Rd.

Decorations were in pink and white. Contest winner was Mrs. Robert Campbell. Refreshments concluded the evening.

Attending were Mrs. Roy Holdridge, Mrs. F. B. Loudenslager, Mrs. Ralph Bentley, Mrs. Frank Turner, Mrs. Cyril Willey, Mrs. Wayne Scott, Mrs. Walter Baker, Mrs. Harold Miller, Mrs. Carl Campbell, Mrs. William Starner and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

—:—

Mrs. Raymond Rhodes and Miss Betty Huntley were hostesses when Club L55 met Thursday evening at the Rhodes residence in LaRue.

Prize winners were Mrs. David Stewart and Mrs. Charles Adams.

—:—

She spoke on "Philosophy on Flowers" and judged floral arrangements brought to the meeting by club members. Mrs. Evelyn Sobditch was chairman in charge of the program.

Ribbons awarded by Mrs. Zachman went to Mrs. Marvin Wilson, Mrs. Noah England and Mrs. Allen Middleton, firsts; Mrs. John Gries, Mrs. Jacob Bolinger and Mrs. Ray Reidenbaugh, seconds; Mrs. G. M. Roberts, third; and Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. E. L. Weimer, Mrs. Bernard Harris and Mrs. Walter Frederick, honorable mentions.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Harold Meister, president, named a nominating committee as follows: Mrs. John Gries, chairman; Mrs. Marvin Wilson, Mrs. H. E. Webster, Mrs. T. E. Connor and Mrs. Avery Gibson.

It was announced that the club is to attend a "Breakfast in Marion" at Hotel Marion, Sept. 6.

A guest-day luncheon has been arranged for Sept. 24. It will be held in the community rooms over the West Town Branch of the National City Bank. The program will feature a speaker from Mansfield.

Mrs. William Hershner

The wedding of Miss Sue Lawrence and William Hershner took place June 8. Details in the Wedding Column.

Mrs. Grover Snyder, finance chairman, reported on a rummage sale which is to be held Oct. 3-4, in the Eagles room. Proceeds will go toward the Marion Garden Center.

Mrs. Edwin Shipley announced a flower show in Mechanicsburg, July 16, and Mrs. Meister complimented the winners in the recent Marion show.

Dinner tables were decorated with roses. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Walter Frederick, Mrs. Raymond Furnis, Mrs. Gries, Mrs. Roberts. Miss Joyce Sobditch was a guest.

The next meeting will be an outing at Indian Lake. Mrs. Frank Steffen will be hostess at her home following a luncheon at Redwood Inn.

Harvey Gracely And Mrs. Close Exchange Vows

The marriage of Mrs. Carlos Cooper Close and Harvey T. Gracely was held Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. in Trinity Episcopal Church in Hamilton, O., with the Rev. H. R. Wiechert, rector, officiating.

The bride's attendant was Mrs. Rayl B. Conyers and John E. Gracely of Hamilton served as best man for his father Music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Fred T. Baumgartner, church organist. William H. Gracely of Naples, Fla., served as usher.

The bride wore a powder-blue lace gown, a Dior model, and a matching velvet cap with a short veil. She carried a small Bible which had belonged to her maternal grandmother. It was bound in beige velvet and had velvet streamers of the same shade of blue as her gown with flower pendants.

The bride is a graduate of Stanford University where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She is an accomplished harpist and has given concerts in the United States, Europe and the Far East.

Mr. Gracely for many years was associated with the Marion Power Shovel Co. and retired as president in the spring of 1952.

Following a reception in the church parish house, at which Mrs. William H. Pohler Jr. presided, the couple left for Washington, D. C., and New York City. They will sail on July 9th on the R.M.S. Mauretania of the Cunard Line to spend several months in Europe.

Patricia Pfeiffer Married To Richard E. Baldinger

Miss Patricia Ann Pfeiffer became the bride of Richard E. Baldinger in an 11:30 a.m. ceremony in St. Mary Catholic Church Saturday, June 28.

Exchanging vows before the Rev. Edward Hudacek were the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Pfeiffer of near Green Camp and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Baldinger of Martel.

Vases of white gladioli adorned the church altar. Organ selections were presented by Miss Judy Shambaugh.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her nuptials a gown of chantilly lace over satin and nylon tulle. Styled with a sabrina neckline and long pointed sleeves, the fitted bodice topped a three-tiered skirt.

HER VEIL WAS attached to a beaded pearl and rhinestone coronation crown. Cultured pearl earrings and necklace completed her attire. She carried a white orchid atop a white prayer book and a lace handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Mrs. Roy Katzmann, the matron of honor, was gowned in nylon organdy of mint green flowers on a white background. The dress was finished with a mint green cummerbund. She wore a matching headpiece and carried yellow daisies.

Similarly gowned, the bridesmaids, Miss Rosemary Pfeiffer, sister of the bride, and Miss Janice Jones, cousin of the bride, also carried yellow daisies. Their crowns matched that of the bride.

Attired also in white and mint green, Miss Sharon Katzmann, the bride's God child was the flower girl.

Rodney Baldinger served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Carrol Tropf, Robert Sherick and James Pfeiffer, brother of the bride.

A dacron dress of coffee color, with brown and beige accessories was the attire of the bride's mother. Mrs. Baldinger also wore a beige dress of nylon with matching accessories. Both ensembles were complemented by yellow rose corsages.

Mrs. R. E. Baldinger

THE RECEPTION, which was at the home of the bride's parents, was held from 2 to 5 in the afternoon. Decorations were flower arrangements and wedding bells.

Mrs. Kenneth Hedges, Mrs. Robert Slob and Mrs. Werner Todd served at the reception. Guests were registered by Miss Joyce Roesch.

Out-of-town guests were from Mansfield, Mount Gilead, Galion, Bucyrus, Ashtabula, Richwood, Hammond, Ind., Batavia, Ill., Green Camp and Martel.

The new Mrs. Baldinger is a graduate of Green Camp High School and Bowling Green State University. She is a teacher in the Green Camp schools.

A Martel High School graduate, the bridegroom is a former navyman, and is employed by the Whirlpool Corp.

They are residing in Green Camp.

Marion Girl Scouts Make Boston Tour

Scenes of early American history in Boston and vicinity were visited by a group of Marion Girl Scouts last week as guests of a Newton, Mass., troop. Seven members of Troop 45, spousored by the Wesleyan Service Guild of Epworth Methodist Church, and Miss Dorothy Snider, troop leader, and Miss Mary Jo Stafford, who represented the guild, made up the tourist party which left by train for the five-day vacation.

At the station in Newton the Marionites were met by the Girl Scout field director and executive committee of Newton and were taken to city hall where they were greeted by the mayor. A tour of points of interest in Newton was followed by a visit to Plymouth Rock, the Pilgrim burial ground and the oldest house there, built 300 years ago.

Following the Plymouth Trail led the group to a number of famous landmarks. A highlight of the day was a dip in the Atlantic Ocean.

Friday's itinerary included a visit to the Boston museum, Harvard University, the site of the Boston Tea Party, Old North Church and the ship Constitution. Overnight camping was at Mary Day Camp and Camp Cedar Hill. At Lexington the group visited the commons of Revolutionary War fame, and at Concord the home of Louisa Mae Alcott.

Homes of other famous literary figures visited were those of Longfellow at Cambridge and Ralph Waldo Emerson among many other buildings made prominent through association with famous New England personages. Worship at Old North Church Sunday and afternoon visit to Boston Commons and Swan boat ride preceded the departure for home. A scrapbook of Marion scenes was presented by the group to the Newton girls as a gesture of appreciation for the hospitality given by the hostess troop. Older girls of Troop 45 who made the trip were Theresa Haldeman, Elaine Hurst, Cynthia Booth, Susan Narance, Dixie Davis, Carolyn Cocherl and Sharon Williams.

Miss Beanan, K. D. Smith Exchange Nuptial Vows

Gowned in imported white chantilly lace, Miss Connie Louise Beanan of Clearfield, Pa., became the bride of Keith Davis Smith of Marion June 14 in St. Francis Church in Clearfield.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sheridan Beanan of Clearfield. Mr. Smith is the son of the late Millard B. Smith of Portsmouth and the late Mrs. Irene Smith Wells of Marion. His stepfather, A. D. Wells, resides at 235 S. Main St.

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and chapel train. A pearl and sequin trimmed tiara held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink glamelias.

Miss Rosemary Sansone of Pittsburgh was the maid of honor and Miss Elaine Mauer and Miss Virginia Maranacci, both also of Pittsburgh, were bridesmaids.

ALL THREE were attired in aqua silk organza with matching chantilly lace bodices. For headpieces they wore matching satin bows with circular veils. Matching satin pumps completed their ensembles. Each carried a corsage of pink glamelias.

John P. Skelly of Pittsburgh served as the best man. Ushers were S. Baird Pfanl Jr., also of Pittsburgh, and Charles L. Wells of Homestead, Pa.

For her daughter's nuptials and the breakfast and reception held at Hotel Dimeling in Clearfield, Mrs. Beanan chose a dress of beige lace and shantung with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink glamelias.

The aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Howard H. Hughes of Portsmouth, also wore beige lace and a white glamelia corsage.

The bride is a graduate of St. Francis High School in Clearfield and the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Pittsburgh. She is employed as a public health nurse by the Allegheny County Health Department in Pittsburgh.

A 1948 graduate of Harding High School and a 1952 graduate of Pennsylvania State University, Mr. Smith served in the U.S. Navy from 1952 to 1955 as a lieutenant (jg) and gunnery officer aboard the USS Hawkins.

He is now a senior in the school of medicine at the University of Pittsburgh.

The couple is residing at 380 S. Winebiddle St. in Pittsburgh, following a two-week wedding trip in the Pocono Mountains and through Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kentucky.

MOUNT OLIVE

The annual inspection will be conducted when Mount Olive Grange meets Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock at the grange hall.

-:- Weddings -:-

Wearing an Alfred Angelo gown of imported pois de sois trimmed with sequins and seed pearls, Miss Sue Lawrence became the bride of William Hershner June 8 in Trinity Methodist Church in Mount Gilead.

Vows were exchanged before the Rev. Gladstone Brown in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Lawrence of Mount Gilead and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hershner, also of Mount Gilead.

For the ceremony, the altar was banked with baskets of white gladioli and white stocks, flanked by palms and candelabras. Bouffant white bows marked the family pews.

A half-hour interlude of wedding music, presented by Mrs. John Williams, organist, and Francis Randall, soloist, preceded the nuptials.

Cousins of the bride, Steven Bricker of Bucyrus and Tom Glosser of Richwood, were candlelighters.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her silk gown, fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a full skirt, falling into a chapel train, bore sequin and seed pearl trim on the scalloped neckline and at the waistline.

A fingertip veil was held by a pearl-trimmed tiara. Her only jewelry was a pair of cultured pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. Yellow roses formed her cascade bouquet.

Gowned in blue and white print taffeta, Mrs. Arthur Irons served her sister as matron of honor. Her street-length dress was styled with a round neckline in front forming a V neckline in back, and with a balloon hemline. She wore matching accessories and carried tinted blue California daisies.

The bridesmaids, Miss Gaynell Johnson and Miss Nancy Wilson, were similarly gowned in yellow and brown. Their accessories were white and yellow California daisies formed the bouquets.

Miss Pamela Irons, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length blue dress with a Peter Pan collar and puff sleeves. Streamers hung to the floor from a huge bow in back.

Completing her ensemble was a blue halo cap and a wrist corsage of blue daisies. She carried a white basket filled with yellow and white petals.

Bobby Hord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hord, bore the rings to the altar on a satin pillow.

Serving as best man was Larry White of Columbus. Robert Hershner, brother of the bridegroom, Arthur Irons, the bride's brother-in-law, Edward Osborn and Rex Shaffer showed guests to their seats.

For her daughter's nuptials and the reception which followed in the fellowship hall of the church, Mrs. Lawrence was attired in pale blue organza, trimmed with satin collar and cuffs. White accessories and a corsage of white roses completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's mother chose a sheath dress of pink with a matching jacket. She, too, wore white accesories and white roses.

The grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Clara Lawrence and Mrs. Elmer Bricker, wore blue silk and pink silk respectively. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

One hundred and fifty guests attended the reception. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed in yellow and topped with the traditional bride and groom. Flanking the cake were vases of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Robert Shaw, Mrs. Jake Belt, Mrs. Robert Ramsey, Miss Ruth Radel and Miss Nancy Lawrence of Hinsdale, Ill., cousin of the bride, presided. The guests' names were taken by Mrs. Larry White Jr.

Out-of-town guests were from Bucyrus, Columbus, Richwood, Prospect, Green Camp, Marion, Mansfield, Galion, Hinsdale, New York City, Cincinnati, Waldo and Cardington.

The newlyweds are now at home at 196 S. Main St., Mount Gilead.

A 1955 graduate of Mount Gilead High School, the bride is an employe of the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. Also employed at the same firm, Mr. Hershner is a 1954 graduate of Mount Gilead High. He formerly attended Otterbein College.

The parents of the bridegroom were hosts for the rehearsal party held Saturday, June 7.

Sixty-three pulp and paper mills now operating in southern states employ 71,239 people whose payroll income totals approximately $351,306,000 annually.

Services Planned At Kingdom Hall

Paul A. Allen of New York, a district minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, arrived in Marion today for a week of evangelistic services at the Kingdom Hall on E. Church St., Ray S. Smith, local presiding minister, announced.

The regular ministry school will be conducted at 7:30 tonight at the Kingdom Hall followed at 8:30 with a ministry development class carrying out the theme, "Fulfilling the Commission To Go and Preach" taken from Isaiah 6:8 and 9. Mr. Allen will give his first talk at that time on a Bible subject of his choosing.

Wednesday through Sunday he will work with the local congregation in "house-to-house ministry" in Marion and Vicinity. He will meet with various Bible study groups throughout the week then give a special address to the local congregation Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Kingdom Hall.

An ordained minister for a number of years, he served in special foreign missionary work for several years in Venezuela and for the last few months has been serving in special district supervisory work in central Ohio.

Sunday at 4 p.m. the highlight of the week will be the public lecture on "Meeting the Needs of Life - Seekers" at the Kingdom Hall. The meeting will be open to the public and no offerings will be asked, it was announced.

Eight Children Ask To Attend Summer Camp

Eight Marion area crippled children have made application to attend Camp Pittenger, near Tiffin, this summer.

The camp, sponsored by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children, will open its facilities to 200 handicapped boys and girls from throughout the state on Aug. 3, for the first camping period. A second period will begin Aug. 17.

Planning to attend from here are: Marcia Greenland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Greenland of 226 Forest Lawn Blvd.; Jane Starner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Starner of near Marion; William Baker, son of the Rev. and Mrs. William Baker of 346 E. Farming St.; Forrest Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orland S. Green of 249½ Olney Ave.; Donna Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beck of near Marion; Darla Lockhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lockhart of near Marion; Evelyn Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Sharp of 623 Jefferson St.; and Patricia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith of Martel.

Applications for the camp were filed locally through Miss Esther Mautz, county health nurse, and Mrs. Earl C. Johnson.

Miss Marguerite E. Whipple, registered physical therapist, on the staff of the Gorman School for crippled children in Dayton, will direct the sessions at Camp Pittenger.

Mrs. R. T. Gray Heads Prospect School Group

Mrs. Robert T. Gray of Prospect has been named chairman of the Prospect Local School District to organize a "town hall" type meeting to hear the public's reaction on steps to improve education.

Under sponsorship of the Ohio State House Conference on Education, each school district in the state is setting up meetings to discuss school problems. A date for the Prospect parley is expected to be announced in the near future.

10-Year Reunion Held by Class of 1948 at St. Mary

A two-day celebration marked the 10th anniversary reunion of the St. Mary School class of 1948 held over the weekend with 20 graduates and their families participating.

The event began with a dinner dance Saturday night at the Marion County Fish and Game Club. Guest speaker was the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary Church and school head.

Toastmaster at the dinner was Dr. Robert Stuber, class vice president. Also speaking on the program was Dr. Richard Schuler of Chicago, class president.

During reading of the prophecy each class member present responded by telling his or her present occupation. Letters were read from former teachers and classmates unable to attend the observance.

Moving pictures of class activities during the senior year were shown by L. K. McGinniss, father of a class member.

On Sunday the group attended the 12:15 p.m. mass, followed by a family picnic held at the fish and game grounds.

License Bureau Here Finishes Busy Month

Undaunted by any recessionary trend, the marriage business in Marion continued to boom last month at a pace considered about normal for June, Probate Court officials reported today.

Court records show that 62 marriage licenses were issued last month—just three less than the total for June, 1957, and 10 higher than the number issued in June, 1956. During most other months of the year the marriage license issue is usually steady at between 25 and 30, court officials said.

Worry, Drink, Drugs, Impatience Are Motoring Hazards

FOUR OF THE MAJOR FAULTS drivers will have to avoid if there is to be a "safe and sane" holiday on the nation's streets and highways over the up-coming Fourth of July weekend are illustrated here.

The American Medical Association warns that anyone who makes any of the mistakes suggested in this photographic series is unfit to drive an automobile.

Posing for the picture is Donald Drake of 359 Glad St., a member of the Marion County Safety Council who makes none of the indicated errors when he's really driving.

LEFT: Anyone troubled with numerous worries should never get behind the wheel of a car unless he can leave his worries behind, the AMA warns. Otherwise he has a good chance of becoming a fatality statistic.

LEFT CENTER: A drink or two may not appear to bother some but studies by the National Safety Council prove that the alcohol from just two cocktails impair vision and coordination. A better "one for the road" is coffee, but the blackest coffee in the world cannot do only what time can do, eliminate alcohol from the bloodstream, the council reports.

RIGHT CENTER: Ragged nerves that require a tranquilizer or some other drug to calm are a potential source of fatal highway accidents. If one must use drugs for medicinal purposes, better let someone else do the driving, warns the AMA.

RIGHT: A chip on the shoulder can lead to serious difficulties for the driver who spends his time glaring at the other fellows who "make all those stupid mistakes." Bulling along the highway over the Fourth, many such drivers will either force others into collisions or find themselves in hospital beds or morgues on July 5.

Another big driver error not illustrated is speed. For a safer, happier holiday, the Ohio State Safety Council urges all drivers to "Slow Down and Live."

Swimming Trip Fatal

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A swimming trip which Michael P. Fagans, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred E. Fagans, took with five other boys at Lakeview Park in Lake Erie, turned into tragedy Monday. Authorities said Michael's face hit some rocks when he dived or fell from the pier into the lake. Lifeguards pulled out his body and failed to revive him.

Groucho Punches a Rumor

Nobody in TV can puncture a rumor quite like Groucho Marx, and he was in usual form when apprised of hearsay about his joining the legion of performers afflicted with TV restlessness — meaning an urge to change format.

Marie Torre

Marx enjoys singular distinction in the art of cutting through by-talk because he eschews double-talk (and go figure that one out for yourselves).

"I'm not changing my show format," was his straight-shooting rejoinder. "Just the quiz, and even that's not going to be changed much. We've felt dissatisfied with the small amount of money we've been giving away.

"Next season, we're going to let each contestant, instead of one of two, spin the quiz wheel, which means that we'll be giving out more money—at least $12 more. What do we care! It's NBC's money and NBC has a lot to give."

YOU'D BE WRONG to think, however, that the minor revision of Marx's quiz game has anything to do with a plan to generate further interest in "You Bet Your Life."

"People," he holds, "don't tune in for the money we give out. I've been doing the show 11 years, and I don't think I could have survived 11 years if the viewers were mainly interested in the money."

Let's face it, the rapier-like wit of Groucho Marx is the only reason for the show's longevity, for his continued popularity everywhere, and he won further proof of that the other day, when the conservative Harper's magazine acknowledged him as a man of rare humor by putting his picture on the cover.

"I think it's the first time Harper's has had a show business personality on the cover, and naturally, I'm quite flattered. It's a distinguished magazine."

GROUCHO'S PRIDE encountered further balm in an interesting proposal from that Broadway institution, The Theater Guild.

"I've been approached by the Theater Guild," he explained, "to do 'Time for Elizabeth' on Broadway for eight weeks next summer. I like the idea.

"I was going to do it as a TV special in the fall, after my three week run in summer theaters, but I've changed my mind. Why do it on television when the people can see me in person for $4.85 apiece?"

The summer theater tour will occupy his time through next month, so he'll certainly have no time to sit by the television set and keep abreast of what the competition is doing.

Not that he would, even if he had the time. Like a lot of critics, he finds fault with TV programming, but unlike the critics, he doesn't place the blame on sponsors and networks.

"I THINK," he says unequivocally, "that the public gets what it wants. The sponsors aren't crazy. The networks aren't crazy. They've a right to try to draw the largest possible audience, and if they can do it with Westerns or giveaways, so be it.

"It's about time the critics stopped regarding television as an art. It's not an art. It's a business. It's not the province of the networks to educate the public.

"A while back," he continued, "The Shrine Auditorium in L.A., which seats about 5000, featured a young singer named Johnny Mathis, and he packed the place. If the Shrine had brought on an intellectual-type opera singer, he would have drawn eight people.

"Oh, well," he concluded, "see ya in vaudeville!"

FRED ASTAIRE'S willingness to dance on television has captured the fancy (and TV budget) of the Chrysler Corp. Viewers will be treated to a pair of Astaire specials next season, the first of which will be presented in mid-October (and we can hardly wait).

Incidentally, it's Oscar Levant who deserves the credit for wakening Astaire's interest in TV. After the screen star measured the enthusiastic response to his appearance on Levant's local Hollywood show, he phoned his MCA agent and said he was ready to make the plunge.

UNFORTUNATELY, Edie Adams hasn't been called upon to re-create the role she originated in "Wonderful Town" when it's presented on TV in the new season. It was because of her refreshing efforts as Rosalind Russell's kid sister in the Broadway musical that TV took Edie under its wing . . . .

The alternating shows of Eddie Fisher and George Gobel won sponsor renewals from RCA and Liggett & Myers . . . .

And, speaking of sponsors, "The Jack Paar Show" has drawn two more advertisers to disturb our viewing pleasure.

Held for Murder

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Puerto Rican laborer was charged with first-degree murder Monday in the slaying of 14-year-old Caroline Walter of Painesville. The warrant was served on Antonio Ramos, 29, at Lake County Memorial Hosital, where he is confined with a bullet wound in the chest. Police said Ramos killed Caroline on Sunday with three bullets from a .25-caliber automatic revolver, then shot himself.

TWIN MISHAPS. Neighbors thought they finally had the key for telling apart identical twins Richard and Robert Galloway of Charlotte, N. C., when Robert broke his left arm playing. But a few days later the identity of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Galloway again became a poser when Richard broke his left arm.

Mrs. Mills Speaks To Manufacturers

Plans of the Ohio State Employment Service to encourage increased employment in the state were discussed at the regular meeting of the Manufacturers' Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

Mrs. Mary K. Mills, manager of the OSES office here, was guest speaker for the meeting and described various future plans of the service to increase employment levels.

The council also held a discussion on conditions in local plants and reports indicated some plants and businesses now are operating at more than 100 per cent of normal capacity. The consensus was that a gradual increase in local employment is continuing.

Plans for the showing of a motion picture supplied by the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. at the July 14 meeting of the council were announced. Title of the movie is "Everybody Knows" and it pertains to management costs.

The movie will be available for viewing by any local business desiring to show it the week of July 14, said Hugh E. Webster, secretary. The July 28 meeting of the council will be held at the Marion Engineer Depot.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The new president of the Luther League of Ohio is Lee Ann Parks of Mansfield. She was elected Monday during the organization's 62nd conference here.

Crawford Creek Gives Up 2 Office Machines

BUCYRUS—The Crawford County sheriff's office today has an electric typewriter and adding machine which were fished out of a creek near Leesville Monday morning.

Deputies said the two machines were discovered by Dwane Morris of Lake Galion who was trimming shrubs along County Road 229 adjacent to the creek west of Leesville. Morris found the two machines and called the sheriff's office. Deputies said the serial numbers on the two instruments had been removed making identification of the owners impossible.

Deputies said the two machines had not been in the water very long and theorized that they might have been stolen recently, although no reports of theft of such machines had been made in Crawford County.

Senate Slates Hearing on Sports Antitrust Status

Immunity May Be Given Grid, Cage, Hockey Loops

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress may yet decide this summer whether to give pro football, basketball and hockey some of baseball's freedom from the antitrust laws.

The Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee has decided to open hearings on the legal status of sports soon, probably July 8 or 9.

Subcommittee Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) said there was no move in a closed meeting to kill a sports bill passed by the House.

Open Minds Promised

"It was the sense of the subcommittee that we go into this with an open mind to get all the facts and problems," Kefauver said.

Opponents of the House bill have hoped the Senate would put it aside this year. That would mean the House and Senate, now ending the 85th Congress, would have to start all over again next year.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) said last week he would fight the House measure to the limit. Celler heads the House Antitrust subcommittee. He pushed a bill to give antitrust exemptions only to practices found "reasonably necessary" to the sports.

Bill Turned Down

The house turned this one down for a bill by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) and supported by Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), senior Republican on the House subcommittee. This bill would flatly exempt such practices as player drafts, contract options, trades, territorial rights and self-regulation of TV-radio broadcasts.

Ticket sales, concessions and other commercial activities would be governed by antitrust laws.

Baseball is now wholly exempt, as the result if Supreme Court decisions. But the court has held that pro football is wholly covered and implied that no other sport may enjoy baseball's immunity

Yesterday's STARS

Pitching — Warren Spahn, Braves, became first to win 10 in the National League, walking only one while beating the Redlegs 9-2, with a six-hitter.

Hitting — Stan Musial, Cardinals, drove in two runs with his 13th home run and a double in a 4-2 victory over the Dodgers.

Little Leaguer Pounds Out 3 Circuit Blasts

In a brace of National League diamond contests staged Monday night, Schiff clouted Fahey Bank 12-6, and Wilhelm shut out MPS, 3-0, in five innings.

Schiff waltzed to its win largely on the power of Dan Roseberry's bat. The Schiff hurler, who limited Fahey stickmen to six runs on four hits from the mound, belted three home runs, one a grand slam effort. He got one in the first, the big one in the third and the other in the fifth.

All told, Schiff's tallied 12 runs on 10 hits. They scored three runs in the first, added eight in the third and one in the fifth. Fahey, with Ellwood and Merchant hurling, managed one run in the third and five in the fourth.

Back-to-back homers by Roseberry and Worthington got the Schiff ball rolling in the first. From then on the outcome was never in doubt. Roseberry slammed a double in his only other appearance at the plate for a perfect night.

Fahey's Evans walloped a triple in the fourth. Roseberry wound up with five strikeouts to his credit. Ellwood got a trio and Merchant managed six.

Wilhelm's scored single runs in the first, second and fifth to account for its three-run lead when the game was called after five frames of play. Altogether, Wilhelm stickmen got three runs on four hits. MPS racked up four safeties but was unable to turn any of them into scores.

Penix was on the hill for Wilhelm's; Flesher chucked for MPS. Penix registered 12 strikeouts; Flesher got eight. Wilhelm's Raymond doubled in the second. Phillips and Cocherl turned the trick for MPS in the first and second innings respectively.

SpahnClips Redlegs in 9-2 Verdict

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren Spahn, the ageless Milwaukee Brave pitching marvel, is still the master of Cincinnati's Redlegs.

Sometimes, like Monday night, he makes it look easy, as if he were trifling with the Reds. His sixhitter and a dozen Brave hits helped sink the Reds, 9-2.

It was his 48th victory over Cincinnati against 15 losses.

An error had helped the Reds pick up a one-run advantage in the first inning. Johnny Logan's bad throw allowed leadoff batter Johnny Temple to reach second and Jerry Lynch singled him home.

Redlegs Baffled

But the Redlegs were baffled from then on until the sixth inning when the other marker was made. Temple led off with a single this time and Lynch doubled him home.

The Braves didn't get started until the middle innings, but they shelled the first three Cincinnati hurlers liberally, belting 10 hits and scoring all nine runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

In the four-run fourth, Eddie Mathews doubled, Hank Aaron beat out a hit and Frank Torre singled in the 1-1 tie run. But Aaron overran second and was trapped off the bag. It looked like the rally might die.

Then starter Bob Purkey went haywire. Johnny Logan was hit by a pitch, Bill Bruton singled in another run and Logan scored on a wild pitch. When catcher Del Crandall singled in another marker, Alex Kellner took over the mound and ended the inning.

But Tom Acker, who relieved him, fared even worse. Mathews, Aaron and Torre collected successive singles for one run and Joe Adcock doubled in two more. After Logan walked, rookie Gene Hayden gave a try at pitching. He got Felix Mantilla to hit into a forceout, but Crandall doubled in two more runs before Hayden could shut off the scoring.

Bailey Suffers Injury

And that fifth inning may have been double costly. Torre slammed into Cincinnati catcher Ed Bailey at the plate and the Redleg had to leave the game with a jammed thumb.

The second of three games here comes tonight with Redleg Harvey Haddix opposing Lew Burdette on the mound.

Sedgman, Segura Share Lead in Pro Tennis Race

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sedgman, his lame leg on the mend, smothered Tony Trabert Monday night and is now co-holder of the singles lead in the $15,000 Masters Round Robin Pro Tennis Tournament.

After three days, Sedgman and Pancho Segura have 2-0 records.

Segura was idle Monday night as Sedgman overwhelmed trabert, 6-3, 6-2, and Rex Hartwig downed Lew Hoad, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7.

Hoad, who has yet to win a pro match here, is now 0-3 for the tournament. Hartwig is 1-2, Ken Rosewall 1-0, Pancho Gonzales and Trabert both 1-1.

Gen. MacArthur Fills Grid Hall of Fame Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football Hall of Fame at Rutgers has an old Army football player as its new advisory board chairman.

He is General of the Army Douglas MacArthur who became chairman Monday. Gen. MacArthur won a letter in football at West Point and was president of United States Olympic Assn. at the time of the 1928 games.

Richwood AC in Action

RICHWOOD — The Richwood AC softball nine is faced with another busy week starting Wednesday night. The local team will play host to Gorman - Rupp of Mansfield for an 8:30 contest. On Friday, the AC will play host to Mac's Trading Post of Marion for a Fourth of July double header at 7 p.m. Sunday, the Delaware Indians will move in for a single game at 8:30.

DISASTER PENDING. Frank Torre of the Milwaukee Braves, slides safely into the plate on teammate Joe Adcock's double to left field in the fifth inning on the Braves-Redlegs game. Cincinnati backstop Ed Bailey was hurt on the play and will be out of the Redleg lineup for an indefinite period, a loss calculated to do Cincinnati's hopes for this year's pennant no good. The Redlegs are currently in fourth place in National loop standings. Torre also was hurt on the play but apparently not seriously. (UPI Telephoto)

Day, Night Games Slated in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball fans in Chicago, the only city with two major league clubs, get a chance to see both of them in action today and tonight.

It never happened before.

The Cubs meet the San Francisco Giants in a National League game in Wrigley Field this afternoon. Tonight the White Sox meet the Cleveland Indians in an American League game in Comiskey Park.

In the 30s, conflicts in the leagues' schedules forced both the White Sox and Cubs to play at home the same afternoon on occasion. But this is the first time day and night games were on the schedule for the same date.

Bob Kropiewnicki, 19, hurled five no-hitters while winning 25 of 26 decisions for Plains, Pa., High School. The Villanova sophomore has been signed by the Cincinnati Redlegs.

McLish Gets Victory

Wilhelm Rescues Indians in 5-3 Win

By The Associated Press

Luck of the Irish? Don't try peddling that line to Dick Donovan, who a year ago was the right-handed ace of the Chicago White Sox and now is the last to get started on their late-starting staff.

The big guy, who lost only six all last season while winning 16 (no one topped his .727 winning percentage among American League regulars), now is 3-9—one loss shy of his worst season, as far as defeats are concerned. He was 12-10 in '56.

He took it on the chin again Monday night, losing 5-3 to the Cleveland Indians.

The Detroit Tigers, with the help of three unearned runs, two in the ninth, defeated Kansas City in the only other AL game scheduled.

Loss Second Straight

Donovan, 30, gave up all the Injuns' seven hits and runs in his 6 1-3 innings and lost his second in a row since blanking Baltimore 4-0 June 15.

Today starts a two-month period of what baseball people generally call the "dog days" of simmering heat and make-up doubleheaders.

It's supposed to separate the contenders from the pretenders. The Cleveland Indians — bogged down in sixth place and four games under the .500 mark—have the tough part of the schedule just ahead of them.

The Tribe closed out the month of June with a hard-earned 5-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox here Monday night, thanks to some neat relief pitching from knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm.

Minnie Minoso hit his 12th home run of the campaign and Mickey Vernon, once again the American League's leading batter, knocked in a pair of runs with two singles. Cal McLish got oredit for his fourth triumph.

Wilhelm came to McLish's rescue in the eighth inning and put down a White Sox' uprising which had produced two runs on three straight hits.

The Indians scored all their runs off Dick Donovan, who was knocked out in the seventh inning, and nailed him with his ninth defeat against three triumphs.

Minoso Ties Score

Jim Landis opened the scoring against McLish with a homer in the first inning. Minoso got that run back with his homer in the second. Billy Moran knocked in another run that frame with a double after J. W. Porter was hit by a Donovan pitch.

The Indians increased their lead to 4-1 in the fifth on a single by McLish, a walk to Bobby Avila and Vernon's single. Avila went to third on the hit and scored when Rocky Colavito beat out a hit to first.

A triple by Avila and Vernon's single made it 5-1 in the seventh.

A single by Luis Aparacio, and doubles by Earl Torgeson and Billy Goodman gave Chicago its final two runs.

In tonight's game, Ray Narleski (9-5) faces Chicago's Billy Pierce (7-5), who has racked up three straight shutouts.

Cerv Hits No. 20

The Tigers, who blew two leads, scored three runs in the ninth, after Bob Cerv's solo 20th homer gave the A's a 6-4 edge. Harvey Kuenn, hitless in five at-bats, caused all the fuss with the bases loaded and one out.

Kuenn rapped what looked like a double-play ball to third baseman Preston Ward, but two runs scored when he pegged it into right field, and the winning run came home when Roger Maris got

Clips Forest Lawn 3-1

First Round Title Grabbed By Calvary in Church Loop

Calvary clinched the first round championship in Church League softball action Monday night at Garfield Park with a 3-1 victory over Forest Lawn.

In other games last night, Trinity Baptist edged past Greenwood by a 5-4 margin and Lee St. Presbyterian blasted Church of the Brethren 8-1.

CALVARY JUMPED into an early lead and won behind the steady three-hit pitching of Bill Trimmer and Bud England. The winners scored a pair of runs in the opening inning on hits by Scott and Niles, a fielder's choice and a pair of errors. Their final tally came in the third on hits by Wayne Mateer and Niles, a fielder's choice and an error.

A single by Taylor and a double by Persinger accounted for the losers' only run in the fourth inning. Trimmer was the starting pitcher for Calvary and gave way to England in the fifth. England pitched the last three innings and struck out nine batters.

Greenwood scored three runs in the top of the sixth only to see Trinity come back with two in the bottom of the frame to nail the win. Two errors and a triple accounted for two Trinity runs in the first inning. The winners added one in the third on a hit batsman and an error.

THE WINNING RALLY in the sixth came on a double by Brewer and four bases on balls. Greenwood posted one in the third on a double by Gorrell and a triple by Darnell. The three runs in the sixth came home on hits by French, Garver, Conkle and Hopkins and four walks.

Lee St. scored four in the second on five base hits, a fielder's choice and an error. Three came home in the third on four hits, an error, two fielder's choices, a wild pitch and a stolen base. The final tally in the fourth frame was scored on a hit, two bases on balls, an error and a fielder's choice. The Brethren's only score came in the fourth on a single by Miller and Ralph Weber's double.

Clark, Alloy Nines Score Victories in Pony League Play

Two Pony League baseball games were played Monday night. Clark Metal shut out G&G Homes in one fracas and Alloy turned in a 11-4 defeat of VFW in the other.

Clark scored five runs on four hits and was charged with one error in triumphing over the G&G nine. The latter got but two safeties off Clark pitcher Jack McGraw. The victorious hurler registered 16 strikeouts en route to the win.

A trio of G&G moundsmen paraded to the rubber. Gary Wilcox started, fanned seven Clark batters, then was relieved by Robinson. Robinson served up pitches for three frames, struck out a quartet and gave way to Wilcox again, who was charged with the loss.

The game was a scoreless tie until the fourth when Clark broke it open with a five-run splurge.

Alloy pounded out its 11-4 victory over VFW on nine hits. They were guilty of one bobble. VFW got a brace of hits and made two errors.

The victors scored two runs in the first frame, one in the third, six in the fourth and two in the fifth. VFW equalled the count in the first, took a short lived lead with two more runs in the third, then were held scoreless while their counterparts piled up their final eight runs.

Cudd was on the hill for Alloy to get credit for the win. He fanned 11. Leffler started for VFW, was yanked in favor of Paulus but still was tagged with the loss. Leffler accounted for six strikeouts, with Paulus getting four.

MacKay Only American Surviving at Wimbledon

Don't let anyone try to convince you those dainty little shots, delicate little touches and text book styles are going to pay dividends.

You can divide the court up with geometrical precision and carry a picture of every inch of it in your head, but unless you can knock the cover off the ball and send the other man's racket spinning, you won't get near winning a Wimbledon singles title.

Some of the best tennis in this Wimbledon has come from a trio of old-timers — Budge Patty, Jaroslav Drobny, and Gardnar Mulloy. They can all hit that ball pretty hard when they want to—and they are not afraid of giving it a gentle stroke once in a while.

Veterans Eliminated

But now the old-timers aren't around any more. The modern youngsters with their serve and smash game have pushed them out and the 1958 Wimbledon crown is going to be worn either by one of a quartet of poker-faced Australians, a towering American with a mulekick service, a couple of brawny Scandinavians, or a lonely Briton, the surprising Bobby Wilson.

The quarter-finalists are Ashley Cooper, Mal Anderson, Neal Fraser and Mervyn Rose from Australia, Sven Davidson from Sweden, Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, and Barry MacKay, the Dayton, Ohio, giant who is the lone bearer of the U. S. standard. McKay defeated India's Ramanathan Hrishman Monday, 6-3, 11-9, 6-2.

Patty is 34 and won Wimbleddon eight years ago. Drobny is 36 and won it in 1954. Mulloy is 44 and would probably have won it but for the war. Patty lost to Davidson, 6-4, 2-6, 9-7, 6-4 and Rose licked Mulloy, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 Anderson stopped Drobny, 6-2, 10-8, 6-2.

Still Attract Crowds

They can't stand up against these smash-and-bash youngsters. But they can play the brand of tennis that pulls in the crowds.

Little more than a handful of spectators clustered round an outside court to see Ashley Cooper, last year's finalist and No. 1 seed this year, scrape through a fourth round four - setter against South Africa's Abe Sega, 13-11, 6-3, 3-6, 14-12.

But Patty, Drobny and Mulloy packed their courts out when they played .and lost.

Akins Is Selected Fighter of Month

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today chose welterweight champion Virgil Akins as its boxer of the month for July.

The power punching St. Louis fighter won the nod for stopping Vince Martinez of Patterson, N.J. on June 6 to take the vacated welterweight title.

The NBA's latest rating pegged Martinez as the second leading contender for Akins' newly won crown behind Cuba's Isaac Logart

Harold Carter, Camden, N.J., heavyweght, won a 10-round decision from Germany's Willi Besmanoff in Carter's first start since serving a 17-month Army hitch. The NBA promptly listed Carter No. 5 in its rankings

East-West Talks on Nuclear Test Controls Begin in Geneva

Limit Parley To Scientific Details Only

Threat of Boycott by Group From Moscow Is Finally Removed

GENEVA (AP) — East-West technical talks on how to guard against violations of a ban on atomic weapon tests open today with the week-old threat of a Soviet boycott apparently cleared away.

Preparations for the conference had been overshadowed by fear that the Soviets would back out because the United States refused to agree in advance that a ban on tests was the goal of the meeting.

The United States contended that the conference must be devoted only to the technical, scientific questions of insuring compliance with a test ban. The Americans said any agreement to ban tests must be worked out in political talks later.

The Soviet delegation finally stated Monday it fully intended to take part in the talks. The outlook for the conference became even brighter after a meeting between U. S. chief delegate James B Fisk and Yevgeni K. Fedorov, head of the Soviet group.

Both delegation leaders predicted success for the talks, which they said would stay on the technical level. This indicated that the conference might avoid the stumbling block of political problems.

Contracts with the UWA and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) expired at midnight Monday. The IBEW, representing 800 operating employes in Marion, Elyria, Lorain, Sandusky, Mansfield, Massillon, Warren and Alliance, has agreed to meet again with the company July 8.

The UWA represents some 2,200 power plant workers in Akron, Scioto, Toronto, Lorain, Warren and Shadyside.

Negotiations between UWA and Edison representatives Monday night were conducted with a federal conciliator. The company's last strike was a four-day walkout in 1956 that resulted in a new two-year contract calling for a 14.95 cent-an-hour package wage increase.

O'Neill Hunts For Billboard Law 'Sleeper'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today looked over Ohio's new billboards ban law to see if he could find any "sleepers."

"I want to be sure there are no sleepers in the amendments," the governor told newsmen.

He referred to amendments to the bill made in last week's special session of the Legislature. One of the changes requires prosecution of violators in local common pleas courts. The measure originally permitted the highway director to deal with violators.

"I am sure the leaders got the strongest bill possible in the light of the activities of the lobby which they encountered," O'Neill said. He referred to activities of outdoor advertisers in opposing the new law banning billboards for 660 feet along new interstate highways.

The governor questioned claims that the law as enacted is unconstitutional. He said the same claims were raised after passage of the Ohio Turnpike Act, a ban on slot machines, stream pollution control and strip mining laws.

Police in Bucyrus Seek To Question Escaped Prisoner

Duane E. Gulley, 21, escaped Marion Correctional Institution inmate who was returned here Monday from Kentucky, will face questioning concerning theft of nearly $1,000 worth of merchandise at Ley's Jewelry Store in Bucyrus on the morning he and two others escaped.

Bucyrus police said this morning they definitely plan to question Gulley concerning the early morning burglary. Gulley and two companions escaped from the institution by climbing out a hospital window and scaling a fence June 13.

Lamoyne Green, prison superintendent, said this morning that Gulley will be held here pending filing of an escape charge in Common Pleas Court.

The superintendent said he expects to take this action today and the prisoner probably will be held here until grand jury action is completed. Gulley eventually is expected to be returned to the Ohio Penitentiary.

The two companions with whom he escaped were captured last Wednesday in West Virginia where they are being held to face armed robbery charges in that state.

Officials in West Virginia said the two men, Herman E. Williams, 31, formerly of the Montgomery, W. Va., area, and James R. Murphy, 25, believed to be from Cleveland, staged an armed robbery at a grocery store shortly before they were nabbed in a stolen car by state police last week.

All three men were serving sentences on charges of robbery.

Street Will Be Closed Off for July 4 Events

Plans to block off N. Prospect St. between W. Fairground St. and Copeland Ave. beginning at 4 p.m. Friday and continuing through the end of the July 4 celebration at Lincoln Park were announced today by Mayor Wendell L. Strong.

He said this will provide a fire route for city fire equipment. He said that last year the area was so clogged with traffic that fire trucks could not have gotten through.

The mayor also announced that a large field north of Veterans Housing area and west of the park and another field west of the Veterans Housing will be used for parking this year for the community-wide observance at the park.

Meanwhile there still remained the possibility today that the celebration program will have to be sharply curtailed from original plans.

William Luse, treasurer of the Marion July 4th Celebration Committee, Inc., reported that so far donations for the observance total about $900. Estimated cost of the planned program is $1,800.

Only sources of income for the program are donations from businesses, industries, civic and other organizations and individuals. James Bradshaw, vice president, said donations may be mailed to Post Office Box 132 or may be requested to be picked up by a committee member by telephoning 2-4148.

He also said he felt that council should set a goal of annexing all of Marion Township to the city, if Vernon Heights should annex. Vernon Heights residents recently petitioned for annexation but their request was turned down by the county commissioners because a number of petitioners withdrew their names, leaving less than a majority in favor.

There also was general discussion of other problems facing the committee. Among them were: the discharge of ammonia fumes from the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer plant on W. Center St.; proposed legislation to outlaw the keeping of pigeons in the city and the proposed legislation to prohibit the planting of trees between the curb and sidewalk in all future developments in the city.

Those attending the meeting were: Mayor Wendell L. Strong; Safety-Service Director Howard W Travis; Deputy Auditor Robert Wooley; Mr. Baldauf; Ralph Williams (R-4th), committee chairman; John Robbins (D-1st); John Williams (D-2nd); Harold Smith (D-at large).

Will Attend Convention

Six members of Ashworth and Associates, 196 S. Main St. will attend the 1958 national convention of the Midland Mutual Life Insurance Co. at the Stanley Hotel in Estes Park, Colo., July 9-12. They are Lewis Ashworth, general agent; Melvin G. Weston, agency supervisor; Richard H. Frawley; Robert S. Kraner; Charles A. Robertson, and Kenneth E. Somerlot.

Mr. Ashworth will take part in the convention program as chairman for one of the business sessions. Mr. Robertson will serve in a panel discussion on prospect conditioning.

Ashworth and Associates is general agency for the Midland Mutual in Marion and north central Ohio.

U.S. Won't Be Blackmailed, Dulles Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles asserted today the United States refuses to pay political blackmail for the release of Americans held captive in East Germany and Cuban rebel territory.

The government hopes to obtain release by other means, he told a news conference.

Dulles also said that only as a last resort would the intervention of U.S. military forces in Lebanon be desirable or justified.

It is much better for the Lebanese themselves, working through the U.N. to find a solution, Dulles said.

He added that he doubts whether it is practical—as the pro-Western Lebanese government has suggested—for U.N. teams in Lebanon to try to seal off the border with Syria.

More than 40 American citizens have been kidnaped by Cuban rebels. Dulles said the rebels' purpose is to produce U.S. intervention but this country will not intervene.

Cuba

with separate groups of rebels. U.S. Embassy sources in Havana indicated there might be some report today.

Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, in rebel-ridden Oriente province, was in contact with forces of Castro's brother Raul northeast of Santiago. Wollam was seeking release of 10 American and two Canadian engineers kidnaped Thursday from a mining development at Moa. The rebels have been quoted as saying these 12 were being well cared for and would be released soon.

The vice consul at Santiago, Robert Wiecha, was in the hills around Guantanamo Bay trying to gain freedom for 28 Navy men and Marines from the U.S. Navy base there. Although there was no word that Wiecha was in contact with the rebels, a Navy spokesman at the base said he did not expect the servicemen to be held long.

"These reckless charges can only undermine public confidence in law enforcement, weaken its record of democratic achievement and give grist to the propaganda mills of our Communist enemies."

Location Not Pinpointed

The location of the remaining captives was not pinpointed. They are two American managers of a nickel plant, seized by eight rebels Monday, and two sugar mill executives, an American and a Canadian.

Castro, whose 19-month guerrilla war to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista quieted down after government victories last April, has accused the United States of aiding Batista. U.S. officials have denied charges that Cuban army planes refueled and rearmed at the Guantanamo naval airfield for attacks on the rebel stronghold in the Sierra Maestra.

Two clashes of rebels and soldiers were reported, meanwhile. One, in which eight rebels and two soldiers were killed Saturday, was near the south central Cuban port of Cienfeugos.

The other clash was reported near Guantanamo. Rebels surprised and killed a lieutenant and five Cuban soldiers and wounded six other soldiers.

Harris Calls Closed-Door Policy Talks

House Probers Study Strategy for Goldfine Quizzing Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) called his House Investigating subcommittee into a closed-door strategy session today, and predicted members from both parties would back the present course.

Public hearings were recessed until Wednesday. Millionaire Bernard Goldfine of Boston appears then to reply to charges that, as a friend of presidential aide Sherman Adams, he received preferential treatment from federal regulatory agencies.

Harris said the subcommittee wanted to talk over charges made in the House Monday by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) that the group violated a House rule by allowing a witness publicly to defame others.

Demand Committee

Curtis demanded creation of a special three-man committee to decide whether the rule had been violated, but he was ruled out of order.

It was learned that records subpoenaed from a Washington hotel confirm that both Goldfine and John Fox, principal accuser of Adams and Goldfine, were registered there on the 1955 day of a conversation about which Fox testified. Fox quoted Goldfine as saying Adams was going to help Goldfine out with the Federal Trade Commission.

But the records do not prove whether the statement was made. Both Adams and Goldfine have denied it outside the hearing room.

The subcommittee finally dismissed Fox amid an uproar after three days of testimony. Fox named Adams, Goldfine and publisher Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald and Traveler as linked in forces destroying Fox's former newspaper, the Boston Post. Denials flew heatedly from those named.

Calls for Officer

A lawyer for Choate, William J. Dempsey, jumped up from a spectator's seat at hearing's end and got into a shouting argument with Harris. Harris banged his gavel and called for a cop.

Fox, meanwhile, announced plans to file million-dollar libel suits against Adams, Choate, the Herald-Tr...ler Corp., Goldfine lawyers Roger Robb and Samuel Sears separately and another one against the two lawyers jointly.

And, with Dempsey's yell that "we propose to prove Mr. Fox is a liar, a welsher and a cheat" still ringing in his ears, Fox named Dempsey to his million-dollar list too.

"All the individuals and the newspapers made thoroughly scurrilous remarks about me in writing," Fox added.

Dempsey seemed less than worried. He said Fox had announced plans to sue him for a million dollars once before, about five years ago, but had never gone through with it.

venture. The project began in November 1954.

By the end of the week, there will be a new 35-mile lake on the map of North America, turbines in the Barnhart Island powerhouse will be spinning in test runs, and shallow-draft ships will be plying the new locks on the American side.

When work is completed next year, the 360-mile seaway will be the third great man-made waterway, the others being the Suez and Panama canals. It necessitated the greatest mass movement of people in Canada's history — 6,500.

2 Boys Discover Big Hole in Street

Alert action of two Uncapher Ave. boys in spotting and reporting a potentially dangerous hole in the street was commended by Mayor Wendell L. Strong today.

Wesley Cochran, 13, and his brother, Terry, 10, yesterday spotted some bricks out of the pavement on Uncapher opposite the end of Congress St. They discovered there was a hole under the pavement and reported it to Safety-Service Director Howard W. Travis.

A city crew checked and found that there was a tunnel under the pavement from four to six feet wide and up to three feet deep extending from curb to curb across the street.

City officials theorized that the tunnel was caused by washing away of the soil into a hole in a sewer under the street. City crews are to repair the damage.

The mayor and safety-service director asked that anyone spotting suspicious holes in the pavement report them to the director's office or the city barn.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

Paul Edward Tanner Jr., 6, of 726 Bennett St. suffered a bump on his head when he ran into the side of a car at Bennett St. and Uncapher Ave. at 7:10 p.m.

He was taken to a doctor's office for treatment of the injury. Driver of the car was W. F. Jones, 21, of New Bloomington.

A hit-skip accident occurred in the 300 block on W. Church St. at 5:17 p.m. A parked car owned by R. E. Smith of 144 Blaine Ave. was struck from the rear by another car.

Cars driven by R. H. Peak, 77, of 931 N. Main St. and D. N. Augenstine, 20, of 614 Darius St., were involved in an accident on N. Main St. near E. George St. at 8:41 a.m.

Two Mishaps in County

Two minor no-injury accidents were investigated Monday by the local sheriff's office.

A car owned by Francis Gear of 523 Decatur Ave. and parked in the 500 block on Emerson Ave. was scraped by a passing truck at 1:40 p.m.

In an accident on County Rd. 162 (Williamsport Rd.) at 4:45 p.m., a car driven by Mrs. John Smith, 22, of the Buckeye Trailer Court sideswiped a farm tractor and baler, driven by Clinton J. Bartley of 371 Brightwood Dr.

Mrs. Smith told deputies that she was westbound on County Rd. 162, and struck the farm equipment after pulling around a parked taxicab.

Lebanon

The rebel attack Monday was made by Druze tribesmen of Socialist Kamal Jumblatt who reached hill positions within five miles of the airport. The government forces dislodged them from a series of strategic spots, but the rebels hung on to some of the villages they occupied in the initial push. Shooting continued through the night.

It was the closest Jumblatt's mountain rebels had come to Beirut, but it was not considered a push on the capital. For one thing, Jumblatt's forces were using small arms and did not have sufficient equipment to challenge the government forces.

Also, the former premier, Saeb Salam, is the rebel leader in Beirut, where his forces dominate the Basta Moslem quarter.

Some observers thought Jumblatt might be getting ready to form the rebel government he has been urging and wanted to extend his territory as much as possible before doing so.

Show Signs of Weakening

The rebels of former Premier Rashid Karami around the north Lebanese port of Tripoli showed definite signs of weakening after government forces cut one of their main supply lines.

Jumblatt launched his attack from the mountain area he bars to U.N. observation teams after a warning that enabled the British Middle East Center for Arab Studies to move 24 teachers and students out of harm's way.

Using only small arms and pack weapons, the rebels took two ranges of hills within sight of Beirut and the airport.

The thrust posed a serious threat because the airport is the only base from which Lebanese jet fighters can operate. Strafing by jets apparently has been the government's trump card in several mountain battles so far.

Planes Rout Rebels

This was the case again. Machine-gun and rocket fire from two jets routed the rebels from the first range of hills. The security forces and pro-government irregulars with mortar fire support moved up.

By late afternoon the rebels held only one village in the area around Kayfoun. Security forces said they suffered no casualties but killed many rebels in the attacking force, whose size was not given.

Security forces in Tripoli, where the rebellion started May 10, said the rebels had been badly hurt in the series of skirmishes from Thursday through Sunday. Only one sharp engagement occurred in the port Monday as the action shifted to rebel hit-and-run attacks northeast of town.

Government troops were able to reach the American Presbyterian Hospital, whose 40 doctors, two nurses and 25 patients — none Americans—had been cut off.

Myers Talks On Education To Lions Club

State Board Member Describes Progress in Ohio's School System

Charlton Myers, local attorney, spoke on "Ohio Schools Go Forward" at the noon luncheon meeting of the Lions Club Monday in Hotel Harding.

He is a member of the State Board of Education, a former member of the Morral Board of Education and formerly was juvenile and probate judge for Highland County.

He commenced by saying that the many good things in our school testify to the good in our education system, our government and our way of life.

However, Russia's launching of the sputnik also was good for American education, for it awakened the people to a new interest in the system's problems, he added.

Problem of Discipline

Mr. Myers laid the problem of the lack of discipline back in the laps of the parents. Without disciplinary training in the home, he said, it is almost impossible to teach or maintain discipline in the school.

To obtain better teachers, the speaker suggested an improvement of teacher education, with a better balance between subject fundamentals and teacher training methods.

One of the biggest problems today is the need for consolidation, he said. He used the Ridgedale consolidation as an example of the benefits derived by the students from consolidating small local high schools.

The speaker then turned to summarizing some of the good things in Ohio schools, mentioning specifically the recent school survey, establishment of the State Board of Education, and the state's high rank in number of colleges.

In closing, he said he saw no reason why Ohio schools should not continue to move forward.

Introducing the speaker was Eugene White, program chairman.

Guests Presented

Ray Semmler presented the guests: John Haberman, a member of the Green Camp Lions Club, and Max Lehner of Mansfield. He also introduced Dan Hale as a new member of the local club.

Project chairmen, Robert Bush and Paul Love, reported that the six Adirondack shelters built by the club at Camp Owens will be painted by club members Wednesday night. The shelters will be put into use next week, they said.

Appeals

UA agencies and other campaign expenses make the total of $204,000 which will be the goal sought in the fall campaign. It will be launched Oct. 13 and run through Oct. 30 with Robert Van Sickle as chairman.

Breakdown under the UA budget approved Monday night with variance from last year's figures in parentheses are: Community Foundation, $134,118, (up $8,076); American Red Cross, $38,486, (down $47); American Cancer Society, $9,700, (no change); direct campaign expenses, $10,896, (up $1,096); administrative expenses during campaign period, $2,800, (up $150); collection and accounting expenses, $4,400, (up $200), and reserve fund for uncollectables, $3,600 (no change).

Although the United Appeals goal is the highest in the history of Marion, Mr. Conkle said today that it has been trimmed wherever possible to give the public the most for its dollar.

He noted that more than $5,000 of the $10,575 budget hike can be attributed to the two new agencies under Community Foundation. Other minor increases have come as a result of slight salary increases and rising expenses.

Approved last Monday night in the Community Foundation budget were: Salvation Army, $19,936, (up $1,381); Fresh Air Fund, $3,000, (no change); Emergency Welfare Fund, $1,600, (no change); YMCA, $42,549, (up $1,402); Family Service Society, $19,483, (no change); Boy Scouts, $21,500, (up $1,900); Girl Scouts, $14,453, (down $547); Marion Dental Clinic, $1,118, (up $203); Marion Union Rescue Mission, $3,210, (new to full membership); Mental Health Clinic, $2,319, (new); USO, $3,200, (down $300) and operating expense of office, $1,750, (up $50).

Mr. Van Sickle pointed out today that this year's campaign goal is only three per cent more than the amount collected last year. The 1957 drive came to a dramatic climax by the deadline with $197,205 collected against a quota of $194,525. The 1957 campaign made history here as the first to soar above the goal by victory night.

Marion Area Traffic Cases

Reckless driving: R. M. Lehner, 20, of 215 Bellevue Ave., $15 and costs; J. F. Isler Jr., 18, of near Prospect, $15 and costs; J. M. Endsley, 41, of near Richwood, $15 and costs; W. B. Corbin, 18, of 1251 S. Prospect St., $15 and costs.

Failure to have assured clear distance ahead: L. K. Crampton, 19, of 503 Smith St., $15 and costs; R. D. Yake, 26, of near Waldo, $15 and costs.

Official Says U.S. Heading For Big Boom

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Frederick H. Mueller, assistant secretary of commerce, said today the United States is heading toward a boom so big that the postwar economic peaks will appear as mole hills.

In an address prepared for the Milwaukee Rotary Club, Mueller said the Commerce Department projections, involving no guesswork and making full allowance for error, clearly show the ultimate direction of the economy.

"Under these conditions," he said, "I feel absolutely free in saying to you that this nation is headed towards the greatest period of economic activity the world has ever seen."

"Forthcoming is a period where demand for our goods, services, and supplies will be so great that the peaks of business and industrial expansion we have seen in 1955, 1956 and 1957 will appear as mole hills," he said.

He didn't venture a prediction on when this boom might develop. But he spoke in optimistic terms of present economic conditions and assailed "retailers of nonsense" who, he said, "did their level best to talk us into an economic tailspin."

He said it is amazing "what a heavy psychological impact can be generated by a pack of self-styled 'experts' running around and shouting depression every time an economic indicator failed to hit the record level of August 1957."

Kansas City Man To Judge Boxers

Ernest R. Putnam of Kansas City, Mo., has been named to judge the American Boxer Club's first regional speciality show scheduled to be held in Marion July 27.

The show is being held in conjunction with the annual summer program sponsored by the Marion Kennel Club. An unbenched affair, the event will be staged out-of-doors on the county fairgrounds.

Approximately 200 boxer dogs are expected to vie for top honors in the competition. Prior to this year the show has been held in New York City's Madison Square Garden.

D. F. Starkweather, of Detroit is chairman of the boxer arrangements. General chairman of the show is Miss Eula Rhoads of near Meeker.

Deaths and Funerals

Howard F. Schneck

Howard F. Schneck, 61, of 597 Toledo Ave. died Monday in General Hospital. He was ill six weeks. A native of Norton, he was employed as a truck driver.

Born May 10, 1897 he was a son of Frank and Lillie Harris Schneck.

Surviving are two sons, Howard Schneck of Columbus and Richard Schneck of Phoenix, Ariz., a daughter, Mrs. Dolores Remy of Worthington and a brother, Roy Schneck of New Straitsville.

Annual Meeting Held

Galion Red Cross Keeps Rev. Butler as Chairman

GALION — The Rev. Raymond L. Butler was re-elected as chairman of the board of the Galion Chapter of the American Red Cross Monday night. The chapter held its annual meeting and elected 10 new members to the board and retained four veteran members.

The Rev. Mr. Butler presided for the meeting. Mrs. Gordon E. Millott, Red Cross volunteer field consultant of the Northeast Ohio district, spoke. She commended the chapter for its performance during the past year. Mrs. Harvey C. Huy was presented with a 15-year service pin, and a seven-year pin was presented to Robert Richardson.

NEW MEMBERS elected to the board are: Glen Potter, Miss Ann Ginder, Gene Keener, Mrs. Donald Pounder, Henry Egner, Herbert Newhouse, Elwood Gledhill, Walter Scarlett, Mrs. Joel Brown and George Cronenwett. Re - elected were: Charles Rose, James Fulton, Mrs. Rutherford E. Everest, and Dr. Charles Skinner.

During the organizational meeting of the board, the following officers were chosen: chapter chairman, the Rev. Mr. Butler; first vice chairman, James M. Robinson; second vice chairman, Charles Rose; secretary, Mrs. Gerald Bonnar; treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Stiebling. The organizational meeting was presided over by Mr. Robinson.

For the program, a film was shown. Reports also were given for the services. The Home Service chairman, Mrs. Huy, reported that during the year, there were 1,022 inquiries and requests for information or limited service, and 85 new cases were served one or more times during the year. She said these were primarily for servicemen, or families of servicemen.

Dwight L. Musselman, chairman of the disaster program reported on a current plan for disaster, and gave the names of the sub-chairmen. A disaster training course was given by an area consultant, and 119 persons were typed in the Disaster blood typing program in cooperation with the Galion Community Hospital.

THE BLOOD program chairman E. J. Rendo reported that 533 pints of blood were collected at four visits of the Bloodmobile unit, with 126 volunteers giving 846 hours of work. There were 980 pints of blood used at the local hospital, 882 of these coming from the Columbus Blood Center, and 98 from donors at the hospital in emergencies. The cost of this program for the year was $2,470.68.

First aid chairman was H. R. Edwards. His report showed that 28 certificates were issued to persons enrolled in the three standard and two advanced classes during the year. A mobie unit agreement was entered into with the police department.

The nursing service was in charge of Mrs. Charles Coyle, chairman, Mrs. Joe Coughlin, recruitment, and Mrs. Jack Shuck, enrollment. Four classes in mother and baby care were given. One class in home care of the sick and injured was given.

The water safety service, chairmaned by Richard West, currently has 1,079 children and adults enrolled in classes for the 1958 program under his direction. Instruction begins July 1 at the Children's Home pool and the city pool. The 1957 swimming program resulted in 145 certificates issued.

Other reports were given by the Junior Red Cross chairman, Mrs. H. Muth, and the fund chairman, Robert Richardson.

The annual financial statement also was distributed at the meeting.

Hoffa Starts New Drive Toward Huge Coalition

By VICTOR RIESEL

All through the tense months which ended last Monday when Jim Hoffa jogged down the broad stairs of New York's famed federal court building, the man of turbulence was jumpy and kept telling his people — just wait until the wire tapping trial is over. And, not two hours after he was a free man, Hoffa was arguing with his chief-of-staff, Harold Gibbons, over but one bit of strategy. Should he take a brief vacation to rest. Hoffa said no.

VICTOR RIESEL

The man was on his way. Where? He has as his goal a union of 2½ million truckers, warehousemen and workers in a score of different industries. Maybe even a union of 3½ million men —whatever is a "practical" goal, a source mighty close to him said the next morning.

But most fascinating of Hoffa's plans was "the long look we're going to take at the transportation field." one of his colleagues reported. "We're not going to build any new federation, in or out of transport.

"But we're going to do what no one else in the labor movement has done. We're going to see, in that long look, if we can't get all union contracts to expire at the same time on the docks, on the airlines, on the railroads, in trucking and in the nation's warehouses."

ONE NEED not call on Plato to understand that the logic of this, if successful, would lead to that moment when a group of labor leaders could halt ALL transport.

Those in Hoffa's inner circle say that such strategic power could come only as a result of mutual assistance pacts with all other dockside and transport unions.

The point is made that there are similar "assistance" pacts with other AFL-CIO unions.

There is evidence that this is not a bit of misinformation piped out in the war of nerves against the anti-Hoffa world. For months now, there has been on the desks of all Teamster local secretary-treasurers of "Official Notice" cautioning that "when you send copies of your completed contracts to the international office, make sure that each contract includes the date of termination of the contract."

If these dates can be coordinated, then Hoffa and his union would have a prize bit of assistance to offer.

HOFFA KNOWS he needs something to offer the other transport unions to get them into a coalition, for he couldn't win, place or show in a popularity race in the field—unless these came as door prizes.

But what matters Hoffa's personal popularity to the leaders of other transport unions if they can get the Teamsters to strike in support of their fights? A Teamster stoppage could clog a dock or an airport faster than fog or snow flurries.

But Hoffa realizes that he cannot offer such strike help if he has union contracts which prevent his Teamsters from idling their big trucks.

However, if Hoffa's pacts expire at the same time as those of the rail, airline and waterfront unions —he could strike legally. There would be no contracts. They would all have expired at the same time.

This is not the only "long look" the truck union chief will take with the help of Harold Gibbons and a beefed-up technical staff soon to be filling the Teamsters marble halls again.

WITHIN A few weeks, Hoffa will tour all Teamster centers. Behind him, he will leave champing organizing units. That means the South, too — in fact, especially the South.

Hoffa's colleagues are saying Dixie is wide open now. No great southern drive is planned, they say. But there will be a new, steady organizing push.

And, one of the Teamster national headquarters' most authoritative spokesmen sees 200,000 "maybe 300,000 new members in the automotive and petroleum fields."

He explained that this meant gas stations everywhere as well as machine and tool parts depots—warehouses run by independent companies which feed the automobile industry.

He also envisioned some 40,000 to 50,000 more members in mail order companies and warehouses of such firms as Sears Roebuck.

"This whole area of warehouses is still virgin territory," he said.

Judging from all this, so is the rest of U.S., for Jim Hoffa is taking a long, long look now that his horizons are free.

Nationwide Survey Takes Pulse of Economy

Midyear Signs Show Recession 'Bottoming Out'

There are signs the recession has slowed up, perhaps bottomed out. There are still plenty of strong spots—and evidence that people are taking the recession in stride. In the following article, The Associated Press gives results of a nationwide survey showing the pulse of the nation's economy at midyear.

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

W. J. Dannenberg, director of the Dodge City office of the Kansas State Employment Service, has a problem: too many jobs to fill.

Dannenberg's dilemma is by no means typical of the nationwide employment situation. In many of the great industrial centers, unemployment totals are at or near their post-World War II highs.

But the Dodge City labor shortage does point up the fact that the U. S. economy, midway through recession 1958, has pockets of prosperity that contribute mightily toward keeping business on an even keel.

To find out the mood of the nation at midyear, Associated Press reporters talked to hundreds of people — salesmen, stenographers, store executives, housewives, bankers, bartenders, economists and bus drivers—in a survey that ranged from coast to coast.

The reporters found some anxiety. They heard plenty of complaints. They encountered a good deal of dissatisfaction with the way the general trend of business is going. But—and this is what many businessmen consider significant—evidence of panic was just about nil.

Roy K. Erickson of J. L. Hudson & Co., Detroit's biggest department store, echoed the views of many U. S. businessmen when he said:

"We are not sliding off any further. Things are holding their own."

HERE, BROADLY, is what the survey found:

Bankers and economists tend to share Erickson's view that the business downturn is running out of gas. Many say it's touching bottom. Few see signs of a real upturn now.

Many consumers are holding back. They have been scared by recession talk. Others say they're broke—that they spend every penny they get on food, housing, medical care and other basics of daily living.

Auto dealers are among the hardest hit of all major business groups.

Ask Dean R. Williams, controller of the big Zions Cooperative Department Store in Salt Lake City, how the economy is going and he'll tell you: "I rather feel the recession has bottomed out."

IN CHICAGO, Earl Kribben, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., says: "Business has declined somewhat but State Street (hub of Chicago's retail and commercial district) is not at all discouraged."

When will the economy pick up again? Opinions vary.

Ben Schiffman, financial editor of the Kansas City Star, asserts: "Businessmen are feeling better. Retailers think the third quarter will be better than the first and second and the fourth will be best of all."

Miner Baker, economist for the First National Bank of Seattle, declares: "Businessmen expect the rest of the year to be bad. But they're not at all panicked by it."

Some of these views tie in closely with the latest government statistics on the nation's economic trend.

Mid-1958 finds gross national product, the government's measure of total business activity, ticking along at an annual pace of about 421 billion dollars. In the January - February - March quarter the rate was 422 billions a year. The average for all of 1957 was 434½ billions.

Unemployment, just below five million in May, is probably higher now because there are more job-hunting students in the labor market.

THE FEDERAL Reserve Board's index of industrial production, which measures output of the nation's factories and mines, stands at about 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average. Last month it stopped going downhill for the first time since August 1957.

Personal income of Americans moved up last month to a yearly rate of 344 1-3 billion dollars—and it was still climbing in June. Pay increases have gone out, or will soon be on the way, to hundreds of thousands of government workers.

"The principal reason," says President Ralph N. Larson of the Morris Plan Co. of California, "seems to be uncertainty over the future."

CONSUMER THRIFT is a sore point with businessmen all over the country. A Cheyenne, Wyo., barber bemoans the fact that penny-pinching customers are letting their hair grow longer. And a restaurant proprietor in St. Cloud, Minn., complains: "We didn't even have a good Mother's Day."

What's wrong with the auto business?

Go almost anywhere and you'll find new car sales down from last year. Down sharply in recession-ridden industrial centers like Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Detroit. Down moderately—but still down—in lush farm states like Iowa where other lines of business are booming.

Ed Hayward, executive manager of the Greater St. Louis Automotive Assn., says: "We've given up on 1958 being a year of profit. Right now the automobile business is dead."

EXPLANATIONS ARE many and varied. Carl Flora of Milwaukee's First Wisconsin National Bank says people are making the old car do and putting their extra spending dollars into trailers, boats and outboards.

In Utah, Secretary of Agriculture Benson's home state, farmers refer to the recession as "that thing back East."

Businessmen in Des Moines, Iowa, are reaping a bumper harvest of farmers' dollars. All major business indicators are up from a year ago, despite lagging sales of appliances and cars.

One reason for the farm boom is suggested by Charles Markert of Syracuse, N.Y., an office worker who is stretching his paycheck as far as it will go.

Body Identified

FT. RUCKER, Ala. (AP)—The body of an Army sergeant found hanging in the woods on this military reservation has been identified as Sgt. 1-c Thomas P. Anderson, 36, of Zanesville, Ohio.

Military authorities say Anderson had been dead about 10 days when another soldier found his body Sunday. He hanged himself, they added. Anderson's wife and two children live in Zanesville.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils paced an irregular stock market rise early this afternoon in active trading. The gains pushed the industrial section of the list into new high ground for 1958.

Key stocks rose from fractions to about a point but there were scattered losers and some unchanged.

Steels were narrowly mixed now that steel production has declined following an eight-week rise. Motors barely changed. Chemicals, rails and aircrafts were generally higher Nonferrous metals were a bit lower on balance.

U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Man Resisting Arrest Shoots, Kills 2 Officers

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP) — A former mental patient shot and killed two police detectives who stormed his house Monday night when he refused for several hours to surrender peacefully.

Police riddled the house with machine-gun and small arms fire and blasted tear gas through windows after Lt. Thomas H. Truesdale, 58, and Detective Emil Newberg, 56, were slain.

When no further gunfire sounded from the house, police entered and found Robert Genereux, 35, cowering in a bedroom closet.

Truesdale and Newberg were among four officers who first entered the house in an attempt to disarm Genereux.

He met them with blasts from his .38-caliber pistol.

Both officers died a short while later in a hospital.

The siege began when neighbors of Genereux in a tenement section complained that he was firing shots into an unoccupied flat adjoining the house he shared with his mother.

During the afternoon, Genereux's mother persuaded her son to give up a shotgun, a rifle and two revolvers.

She left the house and turned those over to police. She told the officers her son refused to give up a third pistol.

Police said they would seek to hold Genereux until Wednesday before bringing charges against him.

Reunions

Thirty-four persons attended the third annual Levien reunion held Sunday noon at McKinley Park.

A picnic lunch was followed by games and contests. Mrs. Lillian Bumgardner of Hamburg, Pa., won the prize for being the person from the farthest distance.

Officers this year were: Mrs. John Levien, president; Miss Watson, vice president; and Gary McAfee, secretary - treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Roberts were in charge of recreation this year.

Maranatha Bible Camp Plans Activity on July 4

Scheduled for July 4 at Maranatha Bible Camp near New Bloomington is a day of family picnicking, supervised play, swimming, and evening showing of the Moody Bible Institute science film, "Facts of Faith," the camp director, the Rev. Earl L. Holliday, announced. The church bus will leave from Maranatha Bible Church at 10:30 a.m.

The day following there will be a rally at 2:30 p.m. for 12-year-olds under direction of the Rev. Glenn Greenwood of Springfield. Showing of the same film will be a part of the program. Various other day camps are set by groups of young people through July and August and an adult camping period the last of August will hold through Labor Day under leadership of the Rev. George Fissell of Akron. Maranatha Church held the closing day of its Vacation Bible School at the camp Friday and a service of recognition for the pupils was held Sunday night at the church.

On the shores of Lake Victoria, in British East Africa, there are swanky golf courses. A player may lift a ball from a hippopotamus footprint without taking penalty.

Sack 'Sacked' for Fall, Fashion Designers Say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Prediction: Football coaches won't be the only ones biting their nails this fall. Fashion designers may do a bit of gnawing, too. But one thing appears certain: The sack dress won't be around.

The first hint —for fashion designers, anyway—came Monday. More than 1,300 women from 17 states, wives of delegates to an insurance conference, were permitted a peek at the fall fashion line.

About half of them took time to express opinions in answer to the question: "Would you like to wear the clothes you've seen today?"

There were 266 who said no. Another 253 said they liked what they saw. And 229 weren't sure; they like some, shied away from others.

The women had heard Barbara Littlehale, fashion coordinator for a Columbus department store, declare:

"The sack is definitely out for fall. Chemise may have become a dirty word, but it's still with us . . . in a more wearable style.

"The trapeze is still here, bigger than ever. And the new style to watch is the empire—a high-waisted design with emphasis on the bosom."

Just so the male will know whats' still with him, the chemise is rather straight all the way down, narrow across the hips, and fuller—almost baggy—above the waist.

The trapeze comes down from a narrow top in a kind of triangular shape, getting fuller at the waist and even more full at the hem. The empire is high-waisted, emphasizing the bust.

Most fall designs shown here have been seen up to now only by designers, buyers and fashion editors. They won't reach stores until late next month and probably won't be on public display until September.

"Featured were noticeably shorter hemlines and free-flowing waistlines, called 'the most revolutionary thing since the New Look of 1947,'" Miss Littlehale explained.

Many women who vetoed the new fashions seemed to be thinking in terms of the feminine figure. They commented they are too short, too old or too stout to wear the new styles.

Said one: "If I have a good shape why should I hide it?"

One, apparently not quite certain, said: "Anyway, it's a wonderful time to be pregnant."

The more modified versions seemed to go over well—even with some women who voted no—but many were doubtful about the the more extreme designs.

Most qualified their answers: "I like them, but not for my figure" or "I don't like them, but they look good on slimmer, younger people."

The most unusual reaction, however, came from an unnoticed spectator who offered this comment on the questionnaire: "I'm not sure. I'm just a little boy."

In the United States in 1957 more than 7 million pleasure boats and more than 5 million outboard motors were used by sailing enthusiasts.

Bethel Holiness Camp Set To Open on July 11

Plans are under way for the 11th annual Bethel Holiness Camp period on the camp grounds at New Bloomington beginning July 11 with the Rev. Spencer Johnson of Lake Charles, La., as the preacher. He is a national evangelist of the Bible Missionary Church and is editor of the Missionary Revivalist, official publication of that church.

A pre-camp meeting service set for July 4 will be held at 2:30 p.m. and there will be a missionary service July 10 at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Victor Glenn of Bedford, Ind., missionary returned from Egypt and Africa, in charge.

For the camp period special music and singing will be under direction of the Rev. H. E. Will and his family from Indiana. The nightly services will be at 7:30 and a Sunday afternoon meeting will be at 2:30. Meals will be served in the dining room each day and free will offerings will be received. The services will be open to the public, E. M. Osborne of Marion, the camp meeting secretary, announced.

Steal Rare Coins

DETROIT (AP)— Bandits have broken into a model of Detroit's first financial institution housed in the basement of the Detroit Historical Museum and made off with $60 in rare coins. Museum authorities said the face value of the coins was $60, but that their market value would be more because of their age.

New Minister Named For Church at Ashley

ASHLEY—The Rev. R. D. Cunningham of Mingo Junction near Steubenville has been appointed as pastor of the Ashley Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. Cunningham will replace the Rev. Harley Borden who has been given an assignment at Camp Wesley.

The Rev. Mr. Borden and his family will be honored at a public dinner this Saturday night at 6:30 at the church. The Rev. Mr. Cunningham is expected to arrive here with his family in time for the dinner.

There is a museum exhibiting automobiles—ancient and modern—in Kantstadt on the outskirts of Stuttgart, Germany.

Also, situated in the Township of Scott, County and State aforesaid and bounded and described as follows: Being 18.92 acres of land in the northeast quarter of Section 28, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing 48.19 chains east of the northwest corner of Section 28, Township and Range aforesaid at a stone in section line; thence south 26.58 chains to a stone; thence east 7.12 chains to a stone; thence north 26.58 chains to a stone in section line; thence west on section line 7.12 chains to the place of beginning, containing 18.92 acres of land, being a part of the premises conveyed by will of Jacob Young to Agnus J. K. Young, which premises contained in the aggregate 31.55 acres.

Parcel 2. Situated in the Township of Scott, County of Marion and State of Ohio, to-wit: Commencing at a point in the north section line of Section 28, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, which point is 48.19 chains east of the northwest corner of said Section 28, and is at a stone; thence south 26.58 chains to a stone and place of beginning of the tract herein conveyed; thence south about 888 feet and 8 inches to the east and west line running through the center of said Section 28; thence east on said east and west line running through the center of said Section 28, 11.87 chains; thence north to a stone standing at the southeast corner of a certain 12.63 acre tract of land now owned by Burt O. Slagle, which stone is 26.58 chains south of the north line of said Section 28; thence west on the south line of lands owned by Burt O. Slagle, a distance of 11.87 chains to a stone, the place of beginning, containing 15.75 acres, more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

Parcel 3. Situated in the Township of Scott, County of Marion and State of Ohio, to-wit: 37 acres off of the south side of the south half of the northeast quarter of Section 28, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, and off of the south side of the south half of the northwest quarter of Section 27, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, more particularly described as follows: 37 acres of land off the south end of a piece or parcel of land set off by the commissioners appointed on petition by the court in the estate of John Kennedy of Scott Township, Marion County, Ohio, deceased to Maria Kennedy, widow of said John Kennedy, deceased.

Also the following: Situated in the said Township of Scott, County and State aforesaid, and known as being 5.79 acres of land in the northeast quarter of Section 28, Township 4 South, Range 16 East and 52 acres of land in the northwest quarter of Section 27, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, more particularly described as follows: Starting for a commencing point at the northwest corner of Section 28, Township 4 South, Range 16 East; thence east on section line 48.19 chains to a stone; thence south 26.58 chains to a stone and place of beginning; thence south 1.90 chains to a stake; thence east 33.27 chains to the center of the mudpike (Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike); thence along the center of the mudpike 1.98 chains to a stone; thence west 33.70 chains to the place of beginning, containing 6.31 acres.

Excepting, however, the following lands: The above lands described as Parcel 2, containing 15.75 acres, more or less.

Parcel 4. Situated in the Township of Scott, County of Marion and State of Ohio, to-wit: Being 16.75 acres in the northwest quarter of Section 27, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, and 46.37 acres in the northeast quarter of Section 28, Township 4 South, Range 16 East, more particularly described as follows: Commencing 60.06 chains east of the northwest corner of Section 28 aforesaid on the section line; thence south 26.58 chains to a stone; thence east 21.83 chains to a stone in the center of Mudpike (Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike); thence along the center of Mudpike (Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike) 26.90 chains to a stone in section line; thence west on section line 27.56 chains to the place of beginning, containing 63.12 acres, more or less, containing in all 137.98 acres, more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

Subject to an easement to the Marion Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., for the erection and maintenance of electric power lines.

Tract 3

Situated in the Township of Dallas, County of Crawford and State of Ohio: All that portion of lot No. 7 in location No. 1 in Section No. Ten (10), in Township Four (4) South of Range sixteen appropriated for the purpose of aiding the Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike Co. in the construction of a road which lies within the limits of the south half of the southeast quarter of the said Section ten, and four rods in width off the east end of the south half of the southwest quarter of said section ten, commencing at a point where the south line of said section intersects the center line of the Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike and running thence south 88 degrees west twenty-one and one-half (21.5) rods; thence north 2½ degrees west eighty and ten-hundredths (80.10) rods; thence north eighty-seven degrees and forty minutes east thirty-nine and ninety-hundredths (39.90) rods to the center line of the Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike Road and thence south eleven and five-tenths (11.5) degrees west on said center line to the place of beginning, containing fourteen and one-half (14½) acres.

Also, the southwest part of the southwest quarter of Section Ten in Township Four South, Range Sixteen, commencing at the southwest corner of said Section Ten and running thence north 2 degrees 10 minutes west one hundred and sixty (160) rods and eighty-four hundredths (.84) of a rod to the west quarter post of said section ten; thence north 88 degrees 5 minutes east seventy-eighth and twenty-four hundredths (78.24) rods; thence south 2½ degrees east eighty-two and twenty-four hundredths (82.24) rods; thence north 87 degrees 40 minutes east seventy-four (74) rods; thence south 2½ degrees east 80 rods and 10/100 of the rod; thence south 88 degrees west one hundred fifty-three and ninety-two hundredths (153.92) rods to the place of beginning, containing one hundred and sixteen and twenty-seven hundredths (116.27) acres.

Excepting, however, the following: Situated in the Townshhip of Dallas, County of Crawford and State of Ohio: A part of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of Section Ten (10), Township Four (4) south of Range Sixteen (16), and being more particularly described as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of said southwest quarter of said southeast quarter and running thence north 87 degrees and 40 minutes east thirty-five and ninety-hundredths (35.90) rods (which point is the center line of the Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike); thence running south 11.15 degres west (following the center line of said Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike) to the south line of said southwest quarter of said southeast quarter; thence west on the south line of said southwest quarter of said southeast quarter to the southwest corner of said southeast quarter, a distance of 17.5 rods; thence north (on the west line of said southwest quarter of said southeast quarter) 2.5 degrees east 80.10 rods, to the place of beginning, containing about 10.50 acres of land (being all that part of said southwest quarter of said southeast quarter of said Section 10 that lies west of the center line of said Columbus and Sandusky Turnpike), be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

Also, the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of Section Ten (10), Township Four (4) south of Range Sixteen (16), and being more particularly described as follows: Beginning at the northeast corner of said southeast quarter of said southwest quarter of said section 10; thence south 87 degrees and 40 minutes west, seventy-eight (78) rods; thence south on a line parallel to and with the east line of said southeast quarter of said southwest quarter of said section 10, to the south line of said southeast quarter of said southwest quarter 80.10 rods; thence east on and along said south line of said southeast quarter of said southwest quarter to the southeast corner of said southeast quarter of said southwest quarter of said section 10, a distance of 78 rods; thence north 2.5 degrees west (being on and along the east line of said southeast quarter of said southwest quarter) 80.1 rods to the northeast corner of said southwest quarter of said section 10, containing forty (40) acres of land, be the same more or less but subject to all legal highways.

Tract I is appraised at $13,500.00. Tract 2 at $27,500.00. Tract 3 at $10,000.00, and cannot be sold for less than two-thirds of the appraisement. Tracts 1 and 2 will be offered separately, and then as a whole, and will be sold to the highest bidder or bidders as determined by the totals of said bids according to which is highest. Tract 3 will be sold separately. Terms of sale, cash on delivery of deed. A deposit of 2% of the purchase price will be required on day of sale.

1-B—IN MEMORIAMS

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear son and brother, Charles William Curren Jr., who passed away two years ago today, July 1st, 1956, at the age of 24 years.

Not till the loom is silent
And the shuttles cease to fly,
Shall God unroll the canvas
And explain the reason wry.

The dark threads were so needful
In the weaver's skillful hand
As the threads of gold and silver
In the pattern He had planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curren, Sr.

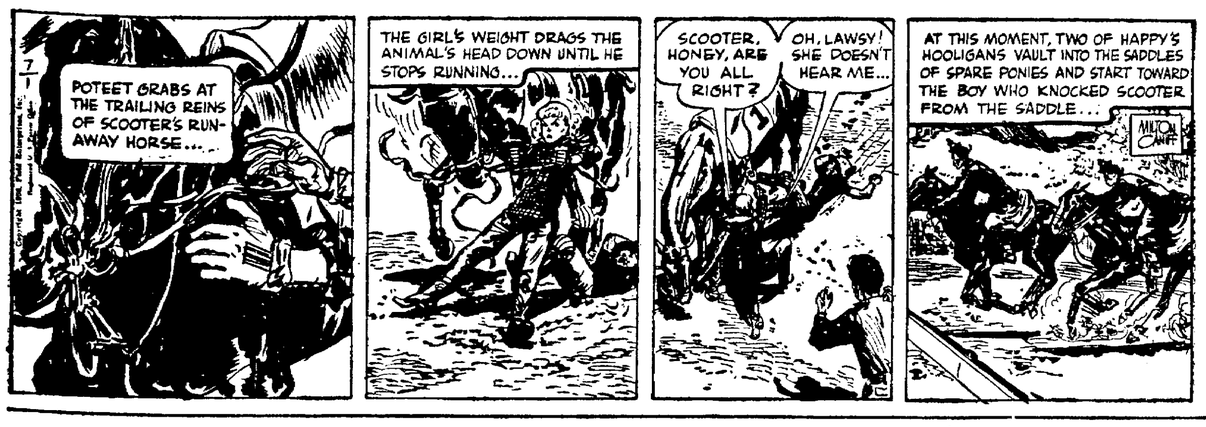
REX MORGAN, M.D. By Dal Curtis

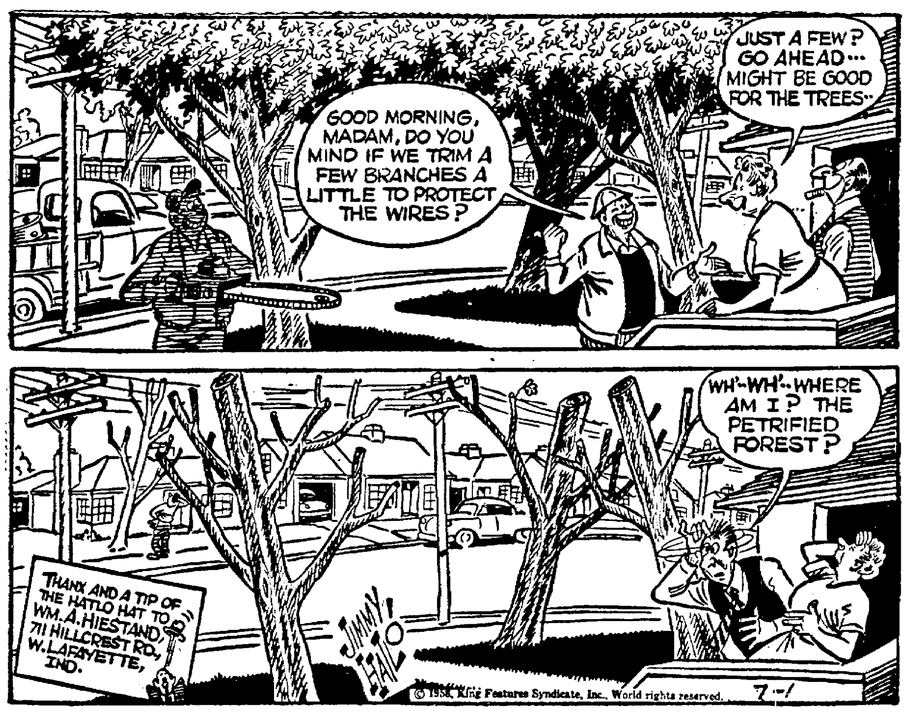
I SAW YOUR MOTHER TODAY, JUDITH...FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MORE THAN A YEAR! AFTER HER TEN YEARS IN STATE HOSPITAL... I-I HAD GIVEN UP HOPE!
I TALKED WITH HER...TOLD HER ABOUT YOUR COMING MARRIAGE TO WALTER CARR! BOTH OF US DECIDED THAT SHE NOT COME HOME UNTIL AFTER THE MARRIAGE!
WE NEED TO BE REALISTIC, JUDITH! HAVING MARTHA MAKE AN APPEARANCE AT THIS TIME WOULD.... WOULD REQUIRE EXPLANATIONS...AND ONLY CAUSE CONFUSION!
PERHAPS... BUT DR. REX IS RIGHT! MOTHER SHOULD COME HOME NOW!

STEVE CANYON By Milton Caniff



POTEET GRABS AT THE TRAILING REINS OF SCOOTER'S RUNAWAY HORSE...
THE GIRL'S WEIGHT DRAGS THE ANIMAL'S HEAD DOWN UNTIL HE STOPS RUNNING...
SCOOTER, HONEY, ARE YOU ALL RIGHT?
OH, LAWSY! SHE DOESN'T HEAR ME...
AT THIS MOMENT, TWO OF HAPPY'S HOOLIGANS VAULT INTO THE SADDLES OF SPARE PONIES AND START TOWARD THE BOY WHO KNOCKED SCOOTER FROM THE SADDLE...

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME By Jimmy Hatlo



GOOD MORNING, MADAM, DO YOU MIND IF WE TRIM A FEW BRANCHES A LITTLE TO PROTECT THE WIRES?
JUST A FEW? GO AHEAD... MIGHT BE GOOD FOR THE TREES..

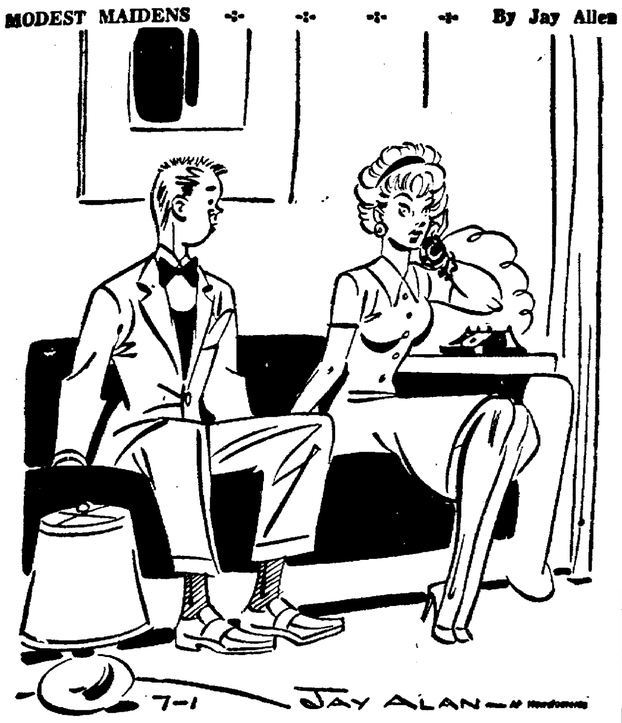
MODEST MAIDENS By Jay Allen



"Why, no Chuck, I'm not doing a thing!"

THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake

MR. KRESTON—DO YOU THINK, SAY, 10 YEARS BETWEEN A GIRL AND A FELLOW IS TOO MUCH?
TOO MUCH FOR WHAT?
WHY—FOR GETTING MARRIED, NATURALLY.
I THINK 10 YEARS IS ABOUT THE SAME AS 10 CENTURIES—OR 10 MINUTES, IF SAID BOY AND GIRL DON'T CARE FOR EACH OTHER, MISS JONES!
